The Warren County commissioners have passed a resolution giving property to Warren Housing Inc. for constructing and operating rental apartments for the elderly. Page One.

The Society for the Study of the Amelioration of Aging will hold its first meeting next Thursday to elect officers. The group was organized as a project of the Warren Health and Welfare Commission last July. Page One.

Not much in the way of excitement is expected when court house officials are sworn in by Judge Alexander C. Flick Jr. next week. Most of the office holders are incumbents and no changes are likely in office staffs. Page One.

A whole load of surprises is awaiting the first baby to be born at Warren General Hospital in 1968. The baby, simply by being born, will be the recipient of gifts from a number of Warren merchants. Page One.

Sara Tome, Warren borough bookkeeper, has been charged with falsifying receipts. Page One.

The annual March of Dimes gets under way in Warren County next month. Page 3.

Several young men were charged by borough police Friday following accidents. Michael D. Schofield, Bemus Point, N.Y., was charged with driving on the wrong side of the highway. While police were directing traffic around the crashed cars, police found two youths with beer in their possession. Later Thomas E. Kohler of Warren was charged with reckless driving. Page 11.

A dividend of $3.24 per share of common stock was declared yesterday by the New Process Co. The dividend is payable Feb. 1. Page One.

PENNSYLVANIA

Gov. Shafer has signed into law tax bills, totaling $70.2 million. The measures constitute about half the $150 million tax package approved by the General Assembly shortly before it adjourned Dec. 21. Page One.

The creation of a unicameral legislature for Pennsylvania was recommended to the Constitutional Convention's Legislative Apportionment Committee. Page 10.

The Constitutional Convention's Taxation and State Finance Committee was told it cannot consider the question of state aid for nonpublic schools. Page One.

THE NATION

Orchestra leader Paul Whiteman, who made the full, rich strains of "Rhapsody in Blue" an American classic, died Friday in Doylestown, Pa., of a heart attack. Page 2.

Dr. Christian Bernard, the South African surgeon who performed the first heart transplant, and his wife, were guests of President Johnson at the LBJ ranch. Page 2.

Sam Holloway Bowers Jr., a Ku Klux Klan chieftain and an ex-nightclub bouncer, Alton Roberts, were sentenced to ten years in a federal prison for conspiring against three civil rights workers near Philadelphia, Miss., in 1964. Page 3.

THE WORLD

North Vietnamese regulars killed 48 U.S. Marines and wounded 81 in a battle for a fortified village in South Vietnam's northernmost province, Quang Tri. Page One.

Queen Anne-Marie of Greece lost her third child by miscarriage. The strain of flight into exile and the Greek political crises was blamed for the loss. Page 3.

Nine children perished in a fire that razed their home at Lac des Isles, Que. The parents, and five other children escaped the flames by breaking a window and jumping out into six inches of snow. Page 3.

SPORTS

Warren Area High School won the Third Annual Holiday Wrestling Tournament, taking four individual championships and placing all 12 grapplers. Curwensville was second, Kittanning placed third and Jamestown, N.Y., finished fourth. Steve Jones, Doug Sorensen, Mike Maines and Bob Thompson won titles for the Dragons. Page 6.

Both the National Football League and the American Football League hold championship games on Sunday. The Green Bay Packers, strengthened by the return of fullback Jim Grabowski, host the Dallas Cowboys for the NFL crown and the Oakland Raiders meet the Houston Oilers for the junior circuit title. Page 7.

A full slate of college all-star and bowl games is on tap for the long holiday weekend. In addition to East-West and Blue-Gray contests, the lineup of bowls include the Rose Bowl, Cator Bowl, Cotton Bowl and Orange Bowl. Page 7.

Orderly Transition Expected At Warren County Courthouse

One of the most calm and orderly transitions in county government in recent years is being anticipated by court house officials when the new machine begins to grind following swearing-in ceremonies at 10 a.m.

A month of conferences by the new commissioners and other elected officials and the continuance of experienced officeholders and personnel will combine to eliminate the customary flurry.

Early in December hold-over Commissioner Blain M. Mead, in a letter to the incoming commissioners, Dr. David K. Rice and Thomas J. Donnelly, suggested the new board begin informal sessions immediately to reach agreement on routine matters which ordinarily would occupy their time for the first month. As a result, the new board has met almost daily this month and the impression is the first meeting of the commissioners will officially confirm their decisions. The board meets following the swearing-in ceremony Tuesday morning. Tentative plans have also been made for the commissioners and the news media to meet with Rep. William W. Allen two Thursdays each month following the regular 10 a.m. commissioner's open meeting. It is not believed there will be any sweeping changes in county personnel, although no announcements have been made. The 1968 court calendar issued this week indicates that Attorney

Medical Insurance Premium Is Hiked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The anticipated $1.2-million increase in the monthly premium on the voluntary medical insurance program which supplements Medicare was announced Friday night. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said the rate will advance from $3 a month to $4, effective April 1, 1968.

Gov. Shafer Signs Several Tax Bills

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer signed into law Friday $70.2 million worth of tax bills. The signing occurred at Geisinger Medical Center, Danville, where Shafer is nursing a chest cold and undergoing his annual physical examination.

The measures constitute approximately half the $150 million tax package approved by the General Assembly shortly before it adjourned on Dec. 21.

The bills signed by Shafer and their yields:

An increase from 5 to 6 mills in the capital stock tax on corporations, retroactive to last

Jan. 1, $25.5 million.
— An increase from 14 to 20 mills in the utility gross receipts tax, retroactive to July 1, $17 million.

— An increase from 2 to 6 per cent in the state inheritance tax, effective immediately, $13 million.

— A 25 per cent increase in the taxes on financial institutions retroactive to Jan. 1, $8 million.
— A transfer, effective immediately, of $6.7 million from the expired Korean Bonus Fund to the General Fund.

The remaining tax measures in the package are scheduled to be signed by Shafer at midnight Sunday so that they may take effect at the start of the new year.

They are an increase from 5 to 6 per cent in the sales tax, valued at $65.6 million, elimination of the 50-cent sales tax exemption on restaurant meals, $7.5 million; an increase in the liquor tax from 15 to 18 per cent, $5 million.

The administration budget office said an additional $1.5 million would be netted in the remaining six months of the fiscal year by increasing the sales tax on restaurant meals from 5 to 6 per cent.

Shafer's office said the unsigned tax measures would be taken to the governor at Geisinger if he were still hospitalized on New Year's Eve.

Declare Dividend

New Process Company yesterday declared its year-end dividend of $3.25 on shares of common stock, payable Feb. 1, shares on record Jan. 10. The dividend is the same as declared last year.

48 Marines Die In Battle for Village Fortress

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese regulars killed 48 U.S. Marines and wounded 81 in a battle for a fortified village 410 miles north of Saigon, the U.S. Command revealed Saturday in a delayed report.

U.S. spokesmen said the Communists lost 27 known dead in the battle which erupted Wednesday in South Vietnam's northernmost Quang Tri Province.

A battalion of Marines on a search-and-destroy mission ran into an estimated two companies of North Vietnamese regulars in the fortified village of Thon Tham Khe.

As one company of Marines approached, the Communists opened up on them with small arms, automatic weapons and mortar fire. A second American company moved up and the Marines called in strong support from artillery, tactical aircraft and naval vessels lying off the South China Sea Coast.

But as the opposing forces moved into close-range ground fighting, the supporting fire became of limited use to the Marines.

The two other companies of the Marine battalion moved into a blocking position on the inland side of the village, which was ringed by a network of camouflaged bunkers and fortifications, and the fighting flared at close range throughout the afternoon.

The Americans pulled into night defensive positions at darkness and, using flares to mark the target, continued to call in heavy naval gunfire on the village throughout the night.

At first light, behind a heavy barrage to soften the enemy position, the Leathernecks overran the village.

The Communists tentatively were identified as members of the 11th Battalion of the 116th North Vietnamese army regiment.

Headon Crash Injures Five Near Union City

Five persons were injured Friday when two cars crashed head-on near West High St. ext. about a mile west of Union City.

The accident involved an east-bound car operated by Christine Ann Morse, 18, RD 4, Union City, and a westbound auto driven by Pamela Sue White, 19, RD 2, Union City, Corry state police said.

Mrs. White and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Beryl White, 53, of the same address, were admitted to Union City Memorial Hospital, where they were listed in fair condition. Judy Daley, 18, RD 1, Ridgway, a passenger in the Morse vehicle, was also listed in fair condition at the hospital.

Mrs. Morse and another passenger in her car, Tracey Webb, 19, RD 4, Union City, were treated at the hospital and released.

Damage to the vehicles was set at $2,600.

New Year's Baby To Receive Gifts

A New Year will soon be here and with it the additional New Year Baby.

For many years, Warren merchants have generously donated gifts for the first child to be born in the new year and 1968 will be no exception.

Last year at Warren General Hospital on January 3, little Miss 1967 was Ann Marie Wood, of 622 Pleasant dr., Warren. Other winners in the past were Misti Jane Straight, 325 State st., Russell; Kimberly Ann Barr, 2 Weiler road; Timothy Meley, 18 Fladry Lane; James Dahler, 708 Conewango ave.; Dr. John Robertson, 44 Glade ave. and others who no longer reside in the Warren area.

Contest rules are simple: the baby must be born in Warren County; the date, hour and minute of birth, sex of baby, parent's name and address must be confirmed by the attending physician and the Times-Mirror and Observer must be notified within 48 hours of birth.

Here are the gifts Miss or Master 1968 will receive: $10 gift certificate, Warren Drug Store; blanket quilt, Murphy's;

Baby lounge, Waxman's; pair of Classmate shoes and socks to match, Brown's Boot Shop; Towle sterling feeding spoon, Darling's.

Baby book for first seven years, Infanteen; Evenflo disposable nursing set, Seastead Pharmacy; one case baby formula, Gough's; four boxes of Pampers, Crown Discount; one 8 by 10 photo, Borg Studio; diaper bag, J.C. Penney Co.; complete layette, Jamsbury; Community three-piece feeding set, spoon, knife and fork, James Jewelers.

One Carter's gift set, Levinson's; one four-piece legging set, Kresge's; $10 in merchandise, Meadow Brook; one pair of baby shoes, Walt's Shoe Store in Youngsville; silver fork and spoon, Steiert's; one large baby blanket, Miller's; one dozen baby bottles, Walker's; $10 to baby's first savings account, Northwest Savings.

$10 Grant's credit book, Grant's; folding high chair, Montgomery Ward Co.; baby bottle sterilizer, Cowdick's; and from the Times-Mirror and Observer a $25 savings bond to first boy and girl.

In Quang Nam, another of the five provinces of the northernmost 1st Corps military area, Communist troops killed 19 U.S. Marines and wounded 25 Thursday after the Leathernecks landed by helicopter for an operation with South Vietnamese forces, the U.S. Command reported. Communist losses were put at 33 killed and two captured. Fighting continued in the coastal lowlands along the South China Sea on Friday, the day before a Viet Cong-proclaimed holiday cease-fire period. The Communist New Year's pause extends from 1 a.m. Saturday—noon Friday EST—to 1 a.m. Tuesday.

Bookkeeper for Borough Arrested

A Warren borough bookkeeper was arrested Wednesday of this week on charges filed by Chief of Police Michael Evan.

Charged with falsifying receipts is Sara Tome, of 3349 W. Washington st., Bradford.

The amounts involved, Chief Evan said, were about $47 in borough receipts and about $25 in parking authority receipts. During preliminary arraignment before Police Justice Martha G. Lawson on Wednesday, the chief said Mrs. Tome waived preliminary hearing and was released on $1,000 bail. Falsifying receipts, Evan noted, is in violation of Sec. 842 of the Penal Code and constitutes a misdemeanor.

The chief declined to give additional details at the request of District Attorney Samuel F. Bonavita since the cases pending in court.

The arrest concluded a five week investigation by Evan instigated by Mayor D. E. Conway, Council president James Torrance and finance chairman W. D. McElwain.

All borough employees are bonded, Evan reminded.

Water St. Land Given by County

Warren County commissioners Friday passed a resolution giving property to Warren Housing Inc. for the purpose of constructing and operating rental apartments for the elderly.

The land is located on the east side of Water st. between Fourth and Fifth aves. and is currently occupied by three houses, 400, 402 and 404 Water st.

Warren Housing has five years in which to construct the apartments and have them in operation, commissioner Lewis Crippen said. The deed for the land, which is to be signed over to Warren Housing later, will revert back to the county in five years if the project is dropped.

Warren Housing, meanwhile, has obtained the services of Jamestown architects Beck, Tinkham and Beyer and elevation drawings and cost estimates are expected to be ready by February, John Hanna Jr. president of the group, said. The commissioners' resolution stipulates that the apartments be non-profit and that rental be in a medium price range.

Early estimates on the project are approximately $400,000 for construction, with monthly rentals for the individual efficiency apartment, including utilities, $75 to $85. "The big question is whether a building can be designed to fit the land and be kept within a reasonable price range," Hanna said.

Warren Housing is also interested in acquiring for the project a borough-owned plot of land at the end of Fourth ave. adjacent to the land received from the county, he said.

New Group Is Formed to Help Elderly

The board of directors of a new organization dedicated to improving the lot of the elderly will meet next Thursday at 8 p.m. at Allegheny Valve Co., 419 Third ave., to elect officers and select a name.

The organization, temporarily named the Society for the Study of the Amelioration of Aging, has been a project of the Warren Health and Welfare Commission since July.

A principal function of the society will be to propose programs for the aged and seek federal funds available for such programs on a matching basis.

Projects would include finding jobs for the elderly who need a job or find it difficult to live on Social Security payments alone, according to Dr. Roger Mesmer of Warren State Hospital, a member of the board.

The society would also attempt to bring together the aged and young people who, by reason of a death in the family or broken homes, lack friendships with older persons, Mesmer said.

Another possible program would be a facility where older persons could stop for rest and refreshment when out shopping or take part in social activities with others of their age.

UAW Bargainers

Step up Efforts

DETROIT (AP) — Bargaining teams for 114 United Auto Workers Union locals stepped up their negotiations with General Motors Friday in the wake of overwhelming ratification of a new three-year national contract.

The increased tempo in local bargaining was ordered by Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president and director of the union's GM department.

Woodcock sent a telegram to local officials, warning that any strikes, work stoppages or curtailment of production must be authorized in advance by UAW headquarters in Detroit.

Paul Whiteman, Band Leader, Dies

DOYLESTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Orchestra leader Paul Whiteman, who made the full, rich strains of "Rhapsody in Blue" an American classic, died Friday of a heart attack.

The 76-year-old Whiteman was stricken with "an acute coronary attack," about 4:30 a.m., according to his physician. An ambulance took him from his retirement home in New Hope, Pa., to Doylestown

Ombudsman for Draft Complaints?

WASHINGTON (AP) — An ombudsman—or trouble-shooter—to investigate complaints about the military draft law and its administration will be proposed at the new session of Congress, Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., said Friday.

"There are those who feel that the Selective Service is curtail free speech," Long said in a statement. "Others believe that the service is too lenient in not drafting 'peaceniks.' Some critics have even suggested that the director of the service resign."

"The ombudsman which I am suggesting would be authorized to investigate and examine all these complaints, and report to the Congress, the press and the general public. Through this process, all responsible and legitimate grievances will at least receive a fair hearing."

Makarios Objects To Council Setup

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Archbishop Makarios, Greek Cypriot president of Cyprus, declared Friday that establishment of an administrative council by the Turkish Cypriot minority was a "flagrant unlawful" act that could undermine U.N. efforts to settle the Cyprus problem.

The Makarios government, apparently was surprised by the Turkish Cypriot move Thursday to set up what could amount to a separate government on the troubled island.

Makarios said the 11-man "provisional administrative council" named to run affairs of the 100,000 Turkish Cypriots was designed to undermine U.N. Secretary-General U Thant's peace efforts.

In the News Around the World

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP) — The official spokesman of African nationalists exiled from Rhodesia said Friday the guerrilla war against Prime Minister Ian Smith's white-minority government has "fallen short of expectations."

The Zimbabwe African National Union publication called for expansion of guerrilla activities in the breakaway British colony next year.

Smith declared Rhodesia independent of Britain Nov. 11, 1965, rather than move toward eventual black majority control. Britain has tried unsuccessfully to bring down the Smith government by means of economic pressure. Rhodesia has about 225,000 whites and 4 million blacks.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — An estimated 30,000 persons were reported homeless Friday in the coastal state of Bahia, where several communities have been flooded by rain-swollen rivers.

In Salvador, the state's capital, Gov. Luis Viana Filho said "incalculable damage" has occurred in southern and south.

FOAM WARMS PLANTS OTTAWA (AP) — Farmers some day may be able to protect fruits and vegetables from early frost by spraying a blanket of protein foam over them.

Scientists at Canada's Agriculture Department say that the foam can keep plants 13 degrees warmer than the atmosphere for up to 18 hours and then disintegrate with no apparent damage to the plants.

BELLS CAUSE 'SNOW' BAYEUX, France (AP) — The bishop of Bayeux diocese has asked for less ringing of church bells on Sunday afternoons.

Residents have complained that the bells' electric mechanism causes "snow" on television screens.

King Edward VIII abdicated in December, 1936, to wed Balthus-born Wallis Warfield Simpson. Now they are the Duke and Duchess of Windsor.

Schools

local government units are faced with a financial crisis because of the growing amount of tax exempt property within their boundaries.

The only fair and logical way to solve the problem, Harrel said, is to eliminate all exemptions, including those now given to churches and charitable institutions.

"If we want our local governments to provide public services at a rate at which we have a right to expect," he said, "then all of us must resign ourselves to paying our fair share of local taxes."

Harrel's proposal was strongly endorsed by Kenneth O. Tompkins, mayor of Johnstown, who Hospital. He died about 20 minutes later.

America's "King of Jazz" during the big band era, Whiteman commissioned George Gershwin to write "Rhapsody." His rendition of it is still a favorite.

Whiteman was affectionately called "Pops." He moved to historic Bucks County, a favorite living place of New York composers and playwrights, about six years ago with his fourth wife, former actress Margaret Livingston. Whiteman and "Muggsy," as he called her, named their home "Coda Cottage." Coda means the last eight bars of a musical score.

Last spring New Hope residents honored him for more than 50 years in jazz. The music played then summed up the career of the man who melded jazz and classical music into a new musical form.

"I never believed that jazz was as bad as the symphonists thought it was, nor that symphony was as bad as the jazz lovers thought it was," he said once. "I thought there ought to be a common ground—and 'Rhapsody' found it."

Many graduates of his band went on to stardom—Bing Crosby, Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey, Morton Downey and Benny Goodman.

Asked his opinion of rock 'n' roll, Whiteman said:

"I don't think you have to live in one groove all the time. If it's well done, it's well done, no matter what kind it is."

Whiteman still wore his jaunty mustache, but had slimmed down from 340 pounds to 185.

"I just don't eat like a big pig," he explained, "but like a little pig."

Brazil Devalues

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Brazil devalued the cruzeiro by 18 1/2 per cent Friday, just 10 months after a 23 per cent devaluation aimed at boosting export sales.

The cruzeiro had been pegged at 2.7 to the dollar. The new rate is 3.2 to the dollar. The Central Bank said trading in foreign currency would be suspended through next Thursday, when the new rate takes effect.

eastern portions of the state and more than 20 persons have died.

TOKYO (AP) — Communist Chinese sailors armed with the thoughts of Chairman Mao Tse-tung recently extinguished an oil fire that threatened a Greek cargo ship in Tsingtao harbor, the New China News Agency reported Friday.

The agency said squad leader Li Pao-shan dashed into the blazing engine room of the vessel, shouting such quotations from Chairman Mao as, "be resolute, fear no sacrifice and surmount every difficulty to win victory."

After the fire was out, the agency said, the Greek sailors were so "moved by the selfless and heroic spirit of the men, they kept shouting their salute to Chairman Mao and the People's Republic of China."

PURITON, England (AP) — A blast at an explosives factory Friday killed three persons and injured three others, police said.

The cause of the blast at the plant, a Defense Ministry factory, was not immediately disclosed.

LONDON (AP) — William Hamilton, a vice chairman of the Labor party, said Friday he plans to ask Prime Minister Harold Wilson why documents relating to the abdication of King Edward VIII should be kept secret.

Despite a regulation effective Jan. 1 that official records for 1923-1937 may be opened for public inspection, officials ruled that access to minutes of debates on the crisis be restricted for "a further period" so as not to embarrass living persons concerned.

King Edward VIII abdicated in December, 1936, to wed Balthus-born Wallis Warfield Simpson. Now they are the Duke and Duchess of Windsor.

local government units are faced with a financial crisis because of the growing amount of tax exempt property within their boundaries.

The only fair and logical way to solve the problem, Harrel said, is to eliminate all exemptions, including those now given to churches and charitable institutions.

"If we want our local governments to provide public services at a rate at which we have a right to expect," he said, "then all of us must resign ourselves to paying our fair share of local taxes."

Harrel's proposal was strongly endorsed by Kenneth O. Tompkins, mayor of Johnstown, who

Try to Find Cause Of Bridge Collapse

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va. (AP) — A melancholy stillness pervades the snow-shrouded banks of the Ohio River here.

Two weeks ago relatives wept on the riverbank as they watched the bodies of their loved ones brought ashore, and morbid curiosity seekers thronged behind police barricades to get a glimpse of one of West Virginia's greatest tragedies—the collapse of the 39-year-old Silver Bridge.

The barricades still stand, but they are not needed any more. Now, 15 days and 36 bodies later, no one comes to watch. Rushing Civil Defense volunteers have been replaced by quiet men in dark business suits who will try to find out why the bridge collapsed.

Charles F. Scheffey of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads said Friday "at least 10" possible causes of the bridge collapse are being investigated by a special federal panel appointed by Secretary of Transportation Alan S. Boyd.

Scheffey, who heads the structural analysis portion of the investigation, would not reveal what possible causes are being studied. But he said the investigation might last a year.

Wallace Wins Calif. Support

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama has won more than enough support in California to get his name on the state's 1968 presidential ballot, a state official said Friday.

An unofficial check of the state's 27 largest counties showed Wallace's American Independent Party receiving 79,001 registrations, said H. P. Sullivan, assistant secretary of More than 40,000 registrations came from Los Angeles County. By state law, a political party needed 60,059 registrants to be listed on the 1968 ballot.

Sullivan said the same check showed that the Peace and Freedom Party has only 38,754 registrations.

The Peace and Freedom Party opposes the war in Vietnam. Wallace said he formed his party because neither Democrats nor Republicans offer his philosophy of individual freedom.

Second Seaman Dies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The second of five Finnish seamen stricken after drinking compass fluid at a Christmas Eve party aboard their ship moored here died Friday night in a local hospital.

Esa Vinnika, 17, a member of the crew of the Finnish freighter Berny, never regained consciousness before he died in Jefferson Hospital.

said that 35 per cent of the assessed real estate in that Cambria County community is tax exempt.

Tompkins said tax exemptions should be given for land owned by the federal state or county governments, but some kind of payment in lieu of taxes should be required by local municipalities.

An end to real estate tax exemptions for public utilities was called for by Edward J. Martin, director of finance for the City of Philadelphia, and Milton J. Shapp.

However, both Martin and Shapp said they favored exemptions for low income groups and senior citizens.

LBJ Hosts Doctor Who Performed Heart Transplant

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson and the South African surgeon who achieved the first heart transplant got together Friday, and Johnson helped his guest achieve another first—A helicopter spin, over the LBJ Ranch.

Dr. Christian Barnard and his wife were guests of the President and Mrs. Johnson for more than three hours and for lunch. Afterward, Barnard came to the White House press center in San Antonio with a glowing impression of the Johnsons and the ranch in the Texas hill country.

"After coffee," the doctor said, "the President took me out in his car and showed me the wild animals on his place. It seemed to me he had as many wild animals on his ranch as we have in Kruger National Park."

Then, he said, there was a little helicopter ride—his first. The womenfolk went along.

"Both my wife and myself are very grateful for this visit. It is one which we will always remember," Barnard said.

The two of them decided to top it off with an evening at "The Landing," a night spot on the San Antonio River walk, to hear Jim Cullum and his "Happy Jazz Band."

"I'm a Dixieland fan," the doctor explained.

What was his impression of Johnson as a man?

"He's got a very quick brain," the doctor reported. "I was impressed by how his brain moved around from one subject to another. One minute he would be talking about problems of medicine in this country and the next minute about airplanes in Australia."

Pronouncing himself very much impressed by Johnson's understanding of medical problems, he said that the President brought up the matter of infant mortality and of caring for poor, pregnant mothers and for their children for a year after they are born.

The Barnards are ending a visit to the United States and flying Saturday to New York, on the way to London and back home to South Africa where another heart transplantation is in the offing shortly. They decided to stay in San Antonio Friday night.

Barnard rocketed to fame Dec. 3 by transferring the heart of a young woman killed in a car crash to Louis Washkansky, 55. The grocer died 18 days later from a severe lung infection.

The doctor came to the United States for various public appearances and let it be known he would like to meet the President—whom he said he admired and considered a great man.

The Barnards flew from Chicago to San Antonio Thursday night, and the White House provided a car and driver for the trip to the LBJ Ranch.

In advance of their arrival, Johnson made an appointment, signed a bill, and issued an order designed to improve federal support for Appalachia and other regional development commissions under Secretary of Commerce Alexander Trowbridge as a sort of governmental overlord.

On the annual 1969 budget that is supposed to be ready for congress a month from now, presidential assistant Joseph A. Calliano Jr. said Johnson still is in the early stages.

In the domestic field, he said, budgets of less than a third of the agencies have been reviewed in detail. He wasn't saying whether the budget would be ready in time.

Under a new format which takes into account social security, highway and other trust fund operations for the first time, the budget may surpass $180 billion. On a comparable basis, the current budget would have started off at around $175 billion instead of the original $135 billion.

Calliano made an appearance at the White House Press center here, then went back to the LBJ Ranch to join other presidential assistants and Johnson in getting back to budgeting. More top level officials are expected from Washington in the next day or two to lend a hand.

Drug Companies Found Guilty of Conspiracy

NEW YORK (AP) — Three drug companies were found guilty Friday night of conspiring to control the production and distribution of $1.7 billion worth of antibiotics.

A federal court jury of 11 men and one woman returned the guilty verdict against American Cyanamid, Bristol Myers and Charles Pfizer and Co. The jury began deliberations Thursday after a trial that began Oct. 23.

The government accused the three firms of entering into arrangements in the mid-1950s to produce and distribute broad spectrum antibiotics. They were found guilty of restraint of trade, conspiracy to monopolize and actual monopoly.

The three companies were accused of violating the Sherman antitrust law from 1953 to 1961. During the trial, the government prosecutor said Pfizer and Cyanamid realized "enormous" profits on an antibiotic called tetracycline.

He said the cost of manufacturing 100 capsules of the drug ranged from $1.59 to $3.87 for the two companies, but that each sold to druggists for $30.60 and that the cost to consumers was $51.

Two other companies, Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. and the Upjohn Co., were named co-conspirators, but not defendants.

The prosecutor said agreements reached among the cited companies limited manufacture of the tetracycline products to the three defendants and sale of the drug to the defendants and co-conspirators. He said all sales by the parties were to be at substantially identical prices.

Rocky Warns on Gov't Spending

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York declared Friday night that the people of this nation might have reached the point where their expectations were running ahead of the country's ability to produce the money to meet them without harming the economy.

In a somber, year-end report to the people of New York, the Republican governor said in a television address:

"Unless government at every level exercises restraint, there could be disastrous results created, with far more human suffering than we are trying to eliminate in the programs we are carrying out at home and abroad."

"In a sense," the governor said, "it's time to balance our hopes and aspirations with the realities of life. We must face the fact that government, just like a family, can't spend away beyond its income for very long without weakening its credit and without undermining its strength."

"And we, as a people," Rockefeller warned, "are close to being dangerously over-committed."

Warren firemen were called to the DeLuxe Metal Products Co. Friday before noon when a dump truck caught fire from a pile of burning rubbish. The truck was in the process of unloading a quantity of oily rags and rubbish when it caught fire, a fire official said. Damage was estimated as minimal.

Firemen were called out a second time shortly after 6 p.m., but the alarm at the Inter-electric plant on Lexington ave. had been triggered by a faulty sprinkler system, firemen said.

Klan Chief, Ex-Bouncer Get Ten Years for 'Conspiring'

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Ku Klux Klan chieftain Sam Holloway Bowers Jr., 42, and former nightclub bouncer Alton Wayne Roper, 29, drew 10-year federal prison terms Friday for conspiring against three civil rights workers slain near Philadelphia, Miss., in 1964.

U.S. Dist. Judge Harold Cox gave Neshoba County Chief Deputy Sheriff Cecil Price, 29, and former Philadelphia service station operator Billy Wayne Posey, 31, six years each.

Three-year sentences were given to Horace Doyle Barnett, 31, of Cullin, La., and Jimmy Arlidge, 30, and Jimmy Snow, 34, both of Meridian, Miss. All three are truck drivers.

No fines were assessed. The Reconstruction Era law under which the federal government brought charges provided maximum punishment of 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Cox said each man would be eligible for parole at such time as the board of paroles may determine.

The seven were convicted Oct. 20 by an all-white jury of conspiracy to violate the civil rights of Michael Schwerner, 24, Andrei Goodman, 20, both white New Yorkers, and James Chaney, 22, a Meridian Negro. No state charges have been filed in the case.

Schwerner, Goodman and Chaney were shot to death during Mississippi's racially troubled summer of 1964. An intensive 44-day search ended on Aug. 5, 1964, when FBI agents unearthed their bodies in a clay dam on a farm near Philadelphia, Miss.

Cox delivered the sentences in barely audible tones. Relatives in the rear of the small courtroom sat on the edge of benches, some with a hand cupped behind an ear in an effort to hear.

The judge allowed the convicted men to remain free on appeal bonds, ranging from $10,000 for Bowers and Roberts to $5,000 for the men who received three-year sentences. Price and Posey went free on $6,000 bond.

Cox restricted them to their home counties except when job force them into neighboring counties. He warned that violation of his restrictions would mean $5,000 fines and additional five-year sentences.

"The very first time someone violates these bonds he's going to get the maximum sentence," Cox said.

Cox lined the men up before his bench before pronouncing sentence and gave each an opportunity to make statements.

Bowers' attorney, Travis Buckley, told Cox that his client, who is the imperial wizard of the militant White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, deserved a light sentence because "he has never been convicted of any crime."

"I have a wife and family at home," said Price.

"I have a wife and four kids," said Posey. "I'd appreciate anything you can do."

Police to Toughen Policy on Rioters

NEW YORK (AP) — Police in several big cities across the country have decided to get tough next summer if rioters take to the streets again.

Smash a window, loot a store, set a fire or hit somebody in the head and you are likely to stop a bullet from a policeman's gun.

That's the word from some metropolitan centers where racial disturbances broke out in 1967.

Announcing that his men have been instructed to react to violence with gunfire, Police Chief Walter Headley of Miami asserted: "When the looting starts the shooting starts. Felons are going to learn that they can't be banded out from the morgue."

Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago told the City Council, "No one is going to take over this city in July or any other month."

Referring to the Democratic National Convention in Chicago next summer, added: "They (rioters) aren't going to take over any convention or any street or any city—no matter how many or where they come from. We'll permit them to act as American citizens and in no other way."

"We've talked about new ways to combat crime, but above all we need respect for law and order."

Police in Los Angeles, scene of the 1965 Watts riot, said they had no intention of adopting a "get tough" policy.

Said Deputy Chief Richard Simon:

"We don't change our policy just because Headley makes a political statement."

"Tous, a crime is a crime, no matter who commits it. We have never had a 'get tough' policy regarding Negroes or any groups and I see no reason why we should have. We have always been as tough as we can be on criminals and that policy is the same all over the city."

Mayor Thomas Whelan of Jersey City, N.J., where there were a number of racial rumbles in 1967, said, "Anybody who touches a cop better be prepared to come off second best. The answer to a riot is the swift and harsh application of force."

A spokesman for Mayor Hugh Addonizio of Newark, N.J., scene of a major 1967 riot, said a firm but just policy would be followed.

"We think we are tough on hoodlums—that's what police work is all about," the Newark spokesman said. "It's improper to single out any particular ethnic or racial group. When a get-tough policy on teen-age loitering was put into effect two years it was employed as vigorously in white neighborhoods as in Negro areas."

Police Commissioner Frank L. Rizzo of Philadelphia, a frequent target of "police brutality" charges by minority groups, had this to say: "We're in a war, and law enforcement is going to win."

"Nobody is going to loot this city. Nobody's going to sack this city. We are not relaxing. No quarter will be given, ever, to the criminal element in this city."

"We will make our streets safe for anyone, any time, and especially for the women and children."

In New Haven, Conn., guards carrying shotguns were assigned to patrol schools, the city hall, police headquarters and the mayor's home after exposure of a plot to blow the buildings up.

Five Negroes were arrested and accused of what a police spokesman described as a plot to "break the back of law and order in New Haven," which suffered from racial rioting last summer.

Gov. Mills E. Godwin, Jr., of Virginia, said in a recent speech to the state Municipal League that urban riots are "first and foremost an outright defiance of law and order" and asserted that the prime responsibility for maintaining civic peace "rides in every squad car and walks with every policeman on his beat."

9 Children Die In House Fire

MONT LAURIER, Que. (AP) — Nine of the 18 children of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Girouard perished in a fire that razed their 11-room, two-story home at Lac des Isles early Friday.

The parents and five other children who were at home at the time escaped by smashing glass from their bedroom windows and jumping out into six inches of snow.

All the 14 children at home were in second-floor bedrooms and Girouard, 47, and his wife, 43, were on the ground floor when the smell of smoke awakened one of the daughters at 12:30 a.m.

The parents ran into a downstairs hallway in an effort to reach the stairs to help the children, but were turned back by the flames. They escaped by smashing through a window.

One of the youngsters smashed an upstairs window, jumped into the snow and ran to a neighbor's home for help. Neighbors sought to pile chairs up the wooden siding as an escape route, but the fire had burst through the roof and the walls began to collapse.

Of the five who jumped from the upper windows, four suffered cuts and bone fractures. These were twins Jean-Claude and Jean-Marie, 16, Denise, 15, and Roger, 13. All were hospitalized along with their parents.

Buffalo Bill Cody is buried on a mountaintop not far from Denver, Colo.

March of Dimes Month is January

Mrs. F. L. Iseman Jr., and Mrs. Phillip Hohman will head the March of Dimes campaign in Warren County next month.

The 1968 drive will mark the 30th anniversary of the National Fund March of Dimes, which has been sponsored locally by the Zonta Club of Warren since 1941.

Funds from the March of Dimes are used in combating and preventing birth defects. An estimated 250,000 children are born each year in the United States with birth defects and approximately 1,375,000 American children under the age of six are birth defect victims.

Contributions may be made to the local drive through Jan. 31. Warren Mayor Donald E. Conaway yesterday proclaimed January March of Dimes month and called on all citizens to "contribute generously to fight birth defects."

Bethlehem Hikes Prices

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) — Bethlehem Steel Corp. said Friday it was raising the price on three railroad products.

Bethlehem said the increases were in line with price hikes announced recently by other producers.

Bethlehem said effective with shipments of Jan. 8, standard steel rails would be raised $5 a ton, join bars $10 a ton and tie plates $6 a ton.

Queen Anne-Marie

marriage that deprived Queen Anne-Marie and King Constantine of their third child, a royal doctor reported Friday.

The Danish-born queen lost the child, expected in June, Thursday night. She and Constantine came to Rome after the collapse of his Dec. 13 counter-coup aimed at overthrowing the Greek military regime.

Constantine and the royal family arrived in Rome Dec. 14. Anne-Marie, 21, showed the first signs of miscarriage Christmas Day.

Four days of treatment at the Greek Embassy by her personal gynecologist, Dr. Basil Court-faris, were unavailing.

Late Thursday night the queen was rushed to a Rome clinic with Constantine at her side. After the miscarriage, she was taken back to the embassy before dawn.

The embassy reported Friday her general condition was "completely satisfactory."

SEEK ASYLUM IN SWEDEN

Deserters Hold News Briefing

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Four young American sailors, who said they deserted because the Vietnam war was "stupid, cruel and immoral," sought political asylum and new lives in neutral Sweden Friday, declaring they wanted to work for peace and persuade other U.S. servicemen to desert.

"I feel like a citizen of the world," said Richard D. Bailey, who did most of the talking for the four who arrived without visas from Moscow and had their first news conference with Western newsmen since they jumped ship—the carrier Intrepid—in Japan Oct. 23.

They were temporarily admitted to Sweden pending a decision on whether they would be granted political asylum. They were ordered to report daily to police and a decision was not expected until after Jan. 1.

Bailey, 19, of Jacksonville, Fla., said they hoped to settle in Sweden and become citizens. "We chose Sweden basically because it is neutral and the neutral line conforms with our views. We do not like politics and wanted to get away from ideologies East and West."

"We chose to come here directly to seek asylum because we thought that would be the best and quickest way and because the U.S. government would have less chance to exert pressure on the neutral country we chose," Bailey said. "The only reason to force us to go back would be U.S. pressure."

They said they did not regret their decision to desert and hoped that "others will follow our example."

Bailey said their motive for leaving their ship was U.S. war policy. "Increasingly we realized that the war was stupid, cruel and immoral and our decision matured."

The four are Bailey, John M. Barilla, 20, of Catonsville, Md.,

Craig W. Anderson, 20, of San Jose, Calif., and Michael A. Lindner, 19, of Mount Pocono, Pa.

In Washington, press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the State Department has not been in contact with Swedish officials about the sailors so far.

In the meantime no immediate move to return the sailors to the United States was under way even though an extradition treaty exists between the United States and Sweden.

State Department legal experts said that the treaty, which set forth terms under which each country can seek return of wanted nationals from the other, specifically rules out extradition of a person wanted for a military offense.

Exclusion of military offenders from extradition has been traditional in diplomatic history, the officials said. They said this is because military crimes like desertion have been traditionally regarded as similar to seeking political asylum. Political refugees are usually protected from extradition.

After leaving the Intrepid, they lived with Japanese student peace groups until Nov. 15 when they went aboard a Russian liner, they said. They appeared in Moscow Nov. 20 and on a Russian television program criticized U.S. actions in Vietnam.

The four described their treatment in Russia as good, but they indicated they were glad to be in Sweden.

DEFECTORS ARE INTERVIEWED

Four American sailors who defected from the U.S. aircraft carrier Intrepid as a protest against the Vietnam war arrived in Stockholm, Sweden, this week. # A Random Thought!

In this day and age when no project is allowed to get beyond the idea stage until a "feasibility" study has been made by a qualified organization which specializes in such investigations it is more entertaining than enlightening to wonder how the world managed to progress before the see-all, know-all boys came along.

For instance, how would the feasibility report of some 15th Century consulting firm have evaluated the possibility of success after considering Christopher Columbus' proposed search for a shorter route to India? Or at a later date, evaluate the possibilities of success when the Wright Brothers proposed an experiment that would see man fly like a bird?

Yet the feasibility report is no more essential to progress in this modern age than are a half-dozen other types of consulting firms and committees. Nothing, just nothing, can be properly considered until a committee, consulting firm, board or authority has had the time to lay grandiose plans over cocktails and steaks for its ultimate success. A ritualistic procedure that reminds one more of a pagan ceremony than an actual need.

The time when an individual administrator could think for himself seems to have passed. And one can only wonder if Andrew Carnegie could have built a steel-producing giant, Henry Ford an automobile dynasty, and Harvey Firestone a rubber empire while playing the game according to the current rule book.

There undoubtedly exists a need for a certain amount of consulting and consideration, even committee action, in this fastpaced society if we are to avoid the pitfalls that have entrapped others. And the old saying that "Two heads are better than one" still applies. But isn't there a chance that we are carrying a good thing to the point of excess, with the net result that our total dependence on committees, counselors, boards and authorities is becoming a bit ridiculous?

Who's in Charge Around Here?

Ray Shafer is rounding out his twelfth month in the Governor's office and as December blusters its way into January all across Pennsylvania, the question recurs: Who's in charge around here?

The question was sharply defined in a spat in the local press last week, and attributed to a source "close" to Pennsylvania's secretary of highways. Since about 200 people can't agree on where one leg of Harrisburg's "beltway" should go (It was explained the project will be shelved until they do! There's a government agency charged with making decisions—simply walking away from a political hot potato.

In late summer, in the heat of the debate over subsidizing parochial schools, the State Board of Education voted, by 11-2, to oppose the idea. Almost at the same moment, the Governor was meeting with the Catholic hierarchy—"trying to work something out," as they say around here. It wasn't the Board's barefaced opposition that nettled at least one legislator as much as the fact that the board's decision "was written without hearing public arguments on the matter."

Conversely, the Legislature simply ignored the State Council of Higher Education's request for a moratorium on the expansion of branch colleges and trade schools by the big universities. We're going to have continuing conflicts and costly duplications," warned the Council's president last May. "If this board is not given authority to control expansion." Notwithstanding, when the big college subsidies passed in December, they included every nickel asked for.

No hearings. Not even a courtesy to the Council for its pains. Nothing. That's the way it is around here. The bigger the government, the shorter the dialogue.

The State Council of Farm

Organizations—which is not a government agency but a collection of lobbyists—comes out against the Governor's idea that milk controls should be placed under the Secretary of Agriculture. Its announcement is published on government stationery—that of the Agriculture Department.

A State Senator wants legislation abolishing all boards and commissions by 1972. It's a desperate effort to force a whole slew of self-perpetuating spending agencies to justify their existence, to the Legislature. Nothing doing.

The problem, of course, is big unwieldy government. Everybody grabs a piece of the action. Nobody has overall responsibility.

Thus, when the House sends the Senate a sales tax increase on the strength of a purloined vote, the Senate says it doesn't question the actions of the House. And the Governor says, "I don't know who was or who was not present in the Legislature at the time the votes were taken."

The fact remains that Representative Susie Monroe says she was voted "aye"—against her wishes—on the sales tax increase. Somebody pushed her voting button, a gadget well-insulated from the Republican side of the House.

Without Mrs. Monroe, there were only 101 votes in favor of the tax. That's neither a majority of the House membership, nor does it represent a theoretical majority of Pennsylvania's population. The same goes for the 5 cent increase in the tax on Cigarettes, which got only 25 votes in the Senate. Members of the Legislature who represent a majority of Pennsylvanians did not favor either proposal.

On the cigarette tax, the Democrats have gone to court on a vague, academic issue. They're fussing about whether the Senate has 49 or 50 members, not whether 25 members represent only a theoretical 50 percent of the population—or, as is the case, less than 50 percent.

On the sales tax, the Democratic leadership proposes to do something if Mrs. Monroe "wishes to contest the vote."

Mrs. Monroe, sick in bed in Philadelphia is clearly not in charge around here. Neither, apparently, is the State Council of Higher Education or the State Highways Department. The question recurs: Who is?

Conversational Counselling And Compost

By Bernie Wingert, County Agent

Here it is—the last story for the year of 1967. Instead of reviewing the shortcomings and the failures, or the successes and the triumphs of the past twelve months, we'll just plunge right into the middle of next month and talk about the 1968 FARM SHOW.

The 52nd Annual five-day event will open in Harrisburg on Monday, January 15th and we hope you take a day or two and attend.

It's an extremely interesting winter fair, and unless you have been there in previous years, you'll be in for a pleasant surprise. Farmer or town person will find himself moving through the thirteen acre building engulfed in a surging mass of people. It takes an hour or so to discover how to disengage yourself from the crowd, and look at the exhibits. Last year over 700,000 people came to see the best of our State's agriculture on display. What kind of people come? Well, there are farmers and farmers wives, school boys and girls, doctors, lawyers, Indian chiefs, machinery salesmen, TV and radio broadcasters, Christmas tree growers, school teachers, statisticians, coal miners, Governors, and square dancers, etc. They come not only from Pennsylvania but from many states and foreign countries as well.

It's true that our industrial power in Pennsylvania has overshadowed our agricultural might, but a look at some facts and figures shows that 43 per cent of the wage earners get all or part of their income from today's Agribusiness. Cash receipts from farm marketings have reached the $900 million mark. An estimated production value of $13 billion is placed on the factories, and wholesale and retail distribution systems that are dependent on farm products, or upon the farmer as the consumer of the goods they produce and sell.

It's little wonder that the machinery companies unwrap their brightest shiniest tractors, combines, harvesters, and every other piece of equipment imaginable at this show each year. There are, in addition to commercial displays, competitive exhibits in horses, sheep, hogs, beef cattle, dairy cattle, grains, potatoes, hay, leaf tobacco, apples, nuts, vegetables, maple products, honey, 4-H entomology displays, Christmas trees, wool, eggs, turkeys, poultry, and home economics exhibits of dresses, foods, and home related arts.

I'll be working at my regular spot—the Christmas tree exhibit area, and Norm Perschke will be in the poultry department. Please stop by and say Hello.

Last year the day before I was to leave for Harrisburg to help set up the show, a sore neck was diagnosed as MUMPS. I understand the Farm Show was successfully held without me. Surely goodness and mercy will follow me and such a disaster will not occur again. See you at the Farm Show.

So Long And Good Riddance

(c) N.Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON — 1967 had a bad press and even the obit writers weren't sorry to see it go. In addition to its wars and riots, it almost managed to give prosperity a bad name, and yet, despite its disappointed expectations, there were a few consolations.

For 12 long months, we risked a war with China that never came. That is something we couldn't be sure about, and probably wouldn't tolerate if China had a large bomber force on our borders. The truth is that we have not really had control of the issue of war with China all year long, but we got away with the risk and that is obviously a plus.

The minus, of course, is that we lost more men in Vietnam in 1967 than in all the other five years since our military intervention in that tragic country. That is a burden on our conscience, but it is not as bad as the slaughter of the big war we have escaped so far.

Also, there has been a revival of spirited political debate in the country in 1967, which on the whole is also a plus. We are deeply divided about what to do now in Vietnam, but at least we are arguing and even thinking about it, which is more than can be said of the years before when we stumbled heedlessly into the conflict.

No doubt this sharp and often vicious debate has sometimes gone too far, but at least it has made the country pay attention to public policy, forced discussion on the purpose, cost, and limitations of modern war, and occasionally provoked some reflections on the two larger questions of what kind of society America is and what its relations should be to the rest of the world.

This discussion has at least made one point clear. It has made the leading antagonists on both sides of the Vietnam argument, and many others, think about the rising power of the American presidency. Both the hawks and the doves and a lot of birds in between, now know after the arguments of 1967 that it is the President personally who decides in the end whether to bomb or not to bomb, to negotiate or not to negotiate, to pursue the enemy into Cambodia or even China or to stop short.

At a time when the American people are preparing to pick a President, this is a useful reminder of the relationship between character and presidential power. Neither the Congress, which has the power of the purse and of impeachment, nor the cabinet, which serves at the pleasure of the President—as the McNamara incident dramatized—is likely to restrain a President from making the critical decisions on foreign relations, even if they involve the risk of fighting a major war.

This, of course, has been true ever since the invention of nuclear weapons and the intercontinental missiles; the major difference is that we are more conscious of it after the events of the last year. On the home front, too, we may be a sadder but we are probably a wiser people than we were at the beginning of 1967. At least we have a more accurate notion of the magnitude of our economic and racial problems in the urban slums.

By the end of the year, the total output of goods and services reached $785-billion, up $44-billion from 1966. Nobody could say that there wasn't more money, more jobs, and more opportunity for the very poor, but even this fantastic boom, now in its 82nd consecutive month, was not nearly enough to meet the goals and expectations announced by the government at home and abroad.

Through the rate of growth of the American economy was good and, by the standards of most other countries, even spectacular, the deficit in the budget and the balance of payments put pressure on the dollar, raised the threat of serious inflation, forced cuts in the welfare programs, and confronted the government with a serious conflict over priorities at the end of the year.

Even so, this conflict over priorities is not without its advantages. It is forcing along a delayed debate on what is primary and what is secondary in the allocation of our resources. It is reviving discussion on the purposes and limitations of our policies at home and abroad.

These are imperious, to be sure, and they are not likely to resolve the mess in Vietnam or in the cities, but they are not unimportant. For if there had been a clearer vision of our priorities and purposes in the years before, the problems of 1967 might not have been as intractable as they proved to be.

Bugging of a Lobbyist

WASHINGTON—During the bugging of lobbyist Fred Black's hotel suite, the FBI got an electronic earful about some of Washington's most prominent personalities. There were titillating tidbits about everyone from Lyndon Johnson to the arch foe of eavesdropping himself, Sen. Ed Long, D-Mo.

It was particularly ironic that Long's name should wind up on the FBI tapes at the same time that he was conducting a determined campaign against government bugging. He was probing Internal Revenue eavesdropping while the FBI was eavesdropping indirectly on him. He did not know this, incidentally, until this week when we called him.

It was the FBI which first got the tip that Sen. Long was close to St. Louis attorney Morris Shenker by listening to one of Fred Black's telephone calls. Apparently, this information was later leaked to Life magazine, which exposed how Long and Shenker had been splitting law fees. Their relationship is now under investigation by the Senate Ethics Committee.

At 5:45 p.m. on February 9, 1963, Black telephoned gambler Ed Levinson in Las Vegas. Black said he had looked up Sen. Long at a Jackson Day dinner in Springfield, Mo., at the urging of Bobby Baker, then a Senate aide. Long objected to talking to Black at the dinner because "too many people were around," but arranged to meet Black on the plane to St. Louis the following morning at 5:30.

On the plane, Sen. Long suggested that Black retain Morris Shenker to defend his income tax case. All this was told by Black to Levinson over the phone in Las Vegas. As Black recounted the conversation to Levinson, he had objected to Long: "Ed, look if you hire this SOB, you're guilty before you start. Otherwise you don't hire him."

Black added that Baker wanted him "to go along with Long" but that he was "not about to go."

When we asked Long about this alleged incident, he stated: "I have no recollection of ever meeting Fred Black, and I most certainly didn't meet him on an airplane at 5:30 in the morning."

However, the FBI bug on March 13, 1963, picked up a related conversation in the hotel suite between Black and Baker. Black repeated to Baker that he had no intention, despite Long's recommendation, of retaining Teamsters' attorney Shenker of St. Louis. Black said his tax case was being handled in Kansas City by U.S. Attorney F. Russell Millin.

"Bobby, let me tell you something," said Black. "I have checked this Millin out. There ain't but one politician in the state of Missouri that this fella Millin is indebted to, and it is not Ed Long."

Baker asked who it was. "Stuart Symington," replied Black. Later, Black asked Baker whether LBJ would be in town the next day. Bobby said he doubted it.

Explained Black: "I got in the mail this morning three models of this house. I don't want to do anything until Johnson sees them. It is the most beautiful thing you have ever seen." We could find no evidence that Black had ever shown Johnson, then Vice President, any house models. This must have been a reference, as nearly as we can determine, to a model of the Apollo spaceship which Black gave to LBJ. Black represented North American Aviation, which was working on the $400 million Apollo contract. Johnson, as Vice President, was in charge of the space program.

In their reports to J. Edgar Hoover, the G-men described the bedroom scenes with stilted rectitude. They were equally sensitive about profanity. In their reports, they carefully omitted all cuss words and merely substituted "profane" or "obscene" in their place.

The FBI also picked up a lot of inside Senate strategy from the phone calls of Bobby Baker, who used Black's telephone to conduct Senate business. Typical was his discussion of a Commerce bill on March 29, 1963, with White House aide Mike Manatos, charged with pushing legislation for the President.

"Our problem," Baker explained on the phone to Manatos, "is that we have a lot of New Frontier men." He said that Senators Burdick of North Dakota, Cannon of Nevada and Engle of California, all Democrats, would vote for the bill.

"We think Fulbright (of Arkansas) will be okay. We might not get Gore (of Tennessee) and Hill (of Alabama). Everett Jordan (of North Carolina) is against us, but if his vote is deciding, he may be absent."

Baker said he was concentrating on people he "thought were dangerous based upon previous votes," then warned Manatos: "If we don't pass this new completion, your days at the White House are going to be limited."

Another time, Baker phoned Manatos from Black's suite to report on his efforts to get a commitment out of Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen on the tax bill. They had been unable to come to terms, Baker said, but added: "We reserve the right to clobber it (the bill) on the floor."

On the whole, the conversations in suite 300 at the Sheraton-Carlton Hotel must have made fascinating listening for the FBI.

Harsh Facts to Consider

WASHINGTON — At the moment, the inner circle of Administration policy-makers is divided by a brisk argument about North Vietnamese intentions in remote little Laos.

One school — the minority — holds that Hanoi has decided to create a major military diversion in Laos. This would mean mounting the kind of general attack on the whole shaky structure of North Vietnam's neighbor-state that might well demand a direct American response. It would not be very expensive for Hanoi to do; and at a minimum it would force President Johnson to call up the reserves or even to proclaim a general mobilization.

The policy-making majority more persuasively holds that this is too risky a course for Hanoi to adopt, with advantages far outweighed by dangers. Thus, the recent North Vietnamese attacks in Laos, on Muong Phalane and other positions, are instead thought to be designed to strengthen the sanctuary area in the Laos panhandle — the southeastern strip of Laos, through which the Ho Chi Minh Trail runs to South Vietnam.

Only time will tell which side of the argument is correct. Meanwhile, however, it is worthwhile, having a look at the main facts behind the argument, which are useful to keep in mind.

The first fact to note about Laos is very simple indeed. At Geneva, in 1962, at the close of the long haggling sessionally presided over by Gov. W. Averell Harriman, the North Vietnamese solemnly promised to withdraw all their troops from Laos. And they further promised, with equal solemnity, never to use Laotian territory to transport men and supplies to South Vietnam.

The second fact to note about Laos is equally simple. Having given these solemn undertakings, the North Vietnamese never for a single instant, moved a single inch toward carrying them out. Their troops on service to bolster the Laotian Communist movement, the Pathet Lao, remained with the Pathet Lao as before. Their use of the Ho Chi Minh Trail through Laos continued as before.

The third fact to note about Laos is that having promised withdrawal, the North Vietnamese have instead rather continuously increased their military presence there. The Pathet Lao have little local support in Laos and have always had trouble finding recruits. Hence, this supposedly native Communist movement is no longer merely bolstered by North Vietnamese. It is so entirely dependent on them that it would swiftly cease to exist without its North Vietnamese components.

The Pathet Lao area of operations is in northern Laos. As for the southeastern panhandle of Laos, it is almost purely North Vietnamese. Until recently, North Vietnamese regulars permanently stationed in Laos were variously estimated at between 20,000 and 30,000 troops, including engineer troops with coolie functions used to maintain the trail and truck routes.

Today, estimates of North Vietnamese regulars in Laos run from 30,000 to 50,000, with 40,000 men the most likely figure. At least four additional regiments of the North Vietnamese home army have moved south toward Tchepone and Savanade.

Such, then, is the North Vietnamese record for all to read who have grandly advised the President to seek a Vietnamese settlement on the "pattern of the Laos agreement." It is hard to overstate the combined silliness, arrogance and immaturity to plain facts shown by the self-righteous academics and the self-serving politicians who have peddled such advice.

Concerning that same Laos agreement of 1962, one more

The 1968 Economic Story

WASHINGTON — It is not too early to make a report on the economy for 1968. We are grateful to Prof. Heinrich Applebaum of the Grim Economic Institute for providing us with the information that could be of such great value to all Americans.

"Professors, how do you see 1968, economically speaking, that is?"

"I see it as another great year, a butter year, with possibly the thrust a little more toward guns than butter."

"Is this bad?"

"Well, in a gun-and-butter economy, you always like to have an even balance between the two, but it's hard to maintain, particularly in a society that consumes so much oleo-margarine."

"What can we expect if the pendulum swings in that direction?"

"An inflationary spiral followed by a wage and price merry-go-round which will eventually lead to a roller coaster ride ending on a Ferris wheel cycle of high interest rates."

"Would this stem the tide?"

"It depends on how many ripples you have in the waves of the economy. Some unemployment may wash over the sands of counter-production, but it's the undertow that we have to worry about."

"Could the body of our economy be hurt?"

"I think it may become bruised and sprained, but I don't see any fractures or contusions. Of course, I'm not a doctor."

"Do you see growth in the gross national product?"

"There could be growth, depending on what kind of fertilizer the Administration uses. We have to cultivate production, but at the same time we have to get at the weeds of inflation. This can be done by either spraying the economy with new investment, or cutting off the water to the American dollar."

"But doesn't this put pressure on the system?"

"The system can probably stand a certain amount of pressure, providing the input is not greater than the output. The problem here, of course, is heat. We can't let the economy overheat, yet if it cools off for a period of time, it might be difficult to start stoking up the fires again. I think here we have to think in terms of durable goods, if we think of anything at all."

"Prof. Applebaum, is there any possibility of cushioning the economy without falling off the precipice?"

"It depends on how soft the economy gets. I don't think the government can sit on business, even though it doesn't hurt to give it a kick once in a while."

"Then from what you say, if spending continues unabated, all signs lead to another spiral which, in turn, could lead to the absence of economic euphoria and possibly an upward thrust with some strain, but not necessarily a clean break with the patterns of 1967."

Prof. Applebaum said, "Are you a wise guy, or something?"

"I believe what I said was quite clear. You have a perverse economy, with relatively pessimistic monetary inversions, leading to starts and stops which could or could not set into motion a boom or bust, depending on how many people go to sports stores and buy guns, as opposed to how many people go to grocery stores and buy butter."

Mesabi Madness

At the western end of the Great Lakes is the widely renowned Mesabi Range, producer of iron ore in such fabulous quantities that at one time it was considered to be an inexhaustible supply of the red mud-like substance that feeds the steel mills of the nation. Its ore produced 90 per cent of the millions of tons of steel for many millions of automobiles, for building structures of all kinds, and to help win two world wars.

Gold seekers discovered these Northern Minnesota iron deposits about the middle of the last century. But it was not until the Merritt brothers broke into the mother lode of soft ore on the Mesabi that the potential of the area attracted widespread attention.

The rush was on. Lumber camps and fur trading posts on the range grew into thriving boom towns as speculators gathered almost overnight. Soon the "big money" moved in—Rockefeller, Carnegie and "Bet-a-Million" Gates. It wasn't long until these tycoons had choked the small operators out of the field and were controlling the mining business.

The state thrived. Taxes rolled into the state treasury in unprecedented amounts and the range towns outgrew their boom status to become affluent communities. There was no reason to think the prosperity wouldn't last forever.

But when the soft ore, that could be loaded into gondolas from open pits by huge shovels, started to peter out the industry found it necessary to develop a process of grinding ore-bearing rock and removing the iron by washing this pulverized material. The iron was then formed into peils for shipping, and the residue dumped.

In building the processing plants, the mining industry requested permission to locate them on the shores of Lake Superior as their operation required millions of gallons of water daily, the lake would provide an ideal dumping ground for the slag, and the boats hauling the ore to eastern markets could be docked for loading at the plant. They argued that only by having the plants on the lake shore would it be financially feasible to process the rock and thus save the Mesabi Range from total abandonment.

Faced with the "power of industry" pressure, the Commissioner of Conservation finally acceded to the request.

For a time, things went well. Then it was discovered that the powdered rock discharge wasn't sinking to the bottom of the lake as the engineers said it would, but was being carried by the lake's currents. The first sign of trouble was evident when fish in the lake started to die. And as the industry continued to dump an approximate 60,000 tons of ground rock daily into the lake the condition worsened. Silt is now showing up in the water system of Duluth and as far east as the Apostle Islands.

In addition, the ground rock has blanketed the Silver Bay area of the lake, choking out all forms of aquatic life and potential spawning beds to the point where thousands of acres of lake bottom has reality, died. Above and beyond this is the fact that cities, factories, and paper mills are using the lake's waters as a depository for their wastes. So that the largest fresh water lake in the world is now showing the wear and tear brought about by civilization.

Further than this, the ore-mining interests are now considering the expansion of "taconite" processing plants to other areas in Wisconsin and Michigan. This will mean that even more fresh water lakes and streams will be subject to the dumping of the rock sludge.

The devastating results of the ore-washing process can be overcome by ponding the washed material, but only the insistence of an alert public will ever force the industry to incur the added cost.

But there is no alternative—the time has come when we must insist that all industry cease considering our waterways as open sewers whose only purpose is that it dispose of their wasteful discharges. Otherwise, what few remaining sources of "pure" water do remain will soon be contaminated beyond normal use.

A recent issue of Conservation News, a publication of the National Wildlife Federation, recently reported that Secretary Orville Freeman (Agriculture) announced new regulations for visitors to the heavily used recreation areas of the U.S. Forest Service on September 12.

Strict limitations are placed on both pets and vehicles. Dogs, cats and other pets must be kept on a leash or caged, and motor vehicles, including cars and motorbikes, are restricted to areas provided for their entry, exit or parking. Included are regulations for sanitation, public conduct, noisemaking devices (radios to motor-driven equipment) and fire control.

He also announced that motor boats on artificial bodies of water will be required to reduce their speed to 5 mph when approaching swimmers, small boats or established boat landings.

NY Teams Meet in Festival

NEW YORK (AP) — It would have been at least 50-1 Tuesday against a Columbia-St. John's University final in the ECAC's Holiday Festival Basketball Tournament Saturday night.

But that's the pairing to the surprise and delight of the New York fans who will pack Madison Square Garden some 18,500 strong for the first all-New York title game in the 16-year history of the Eastern College Athletic Conference's tourney.

"Now," said Columbia guard Ken Brown, "we find out who owns New York."

The title game will go on about 10 p.m., EST.

Louisville, with its noted one-two scoring punch in Wes Unseld and Butch Beard, and Boston College's 10th ranked Eagles, the two teams who had been favored for the title, will battle for third place instead. That game is scheduled for 8 p.m., EST.

St. John's, a 91-90 overtime winner over Boston College two weeks ago, topped the Eagles again Thursday night 60-57, on four free throws by Rudy Bogard in the last 52 seconds. On Tuesday, the Redmen beat Syracuse, 60-55, in the first round.

Columbia, trailing 39-32 at the half, rallied on the hot shooting of sophomore star Jim McMillian and the clutch baskets of Dave Newmark, the flu-hampered, 7-foot center, to overcome eight-point favored Louisville, 74-67.

The Lions had upset West Virginia 98-71 Tuesday. McMillian has scored 64 points in two games.

St. John's, aiming for an unprecedented third title in the Christmas Week tourney, was rated the choice in their first meeting with the Ivy League school in 37 years.

"I think it's just great—great for New York basketball and great for the fans here," said coach Lou Carnesecca of St. John's, who watched Columbia's victory. "It just shows you what a bunch of determined kids can do. Columbia was on the ropes but they just kept scrapping."

St. John's is 8-1, Columbia 6-3, Louisville 4-4 and Boston College 6-2.

Quaker Finale Pits St. Francis, Temple

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — St. Francis' invalids and Temple's scrappy team meet here Saturday night for the seventh annual Quaker City College Basketball championship.

The Frankies from Loretto, Pa., and the hometown Owls fought their way into the final round with Thursday night victories. St. Francis (6-2) held off a rallying Duquesne team 86-83, after Temple nipped Wisconsin 82-80. Both games went down to the final buzzer.

Coach John Clark is amazed his team is in the final. Two days ago, he said, four of his starters couldn't get out of bed. All ran low grade temperatures and one, high scorer Bill Snodgrass, missed the opening round win over Arizona.

Clark said he had to call the college's team doctor Tuesday to come to Philadelphia. Dr. Robert Duggell treated Snodgrass, Larry Lewis, Norm Vanlier and John Kerr for a touch of the flu. He allowed all but Snodgrass to play Wednesday night.

Fortunately for Clark and St. Francis, the Frankies jumped to big leads in both of their games. Then they sat on the ball, resting on offense, "since we can't rest on defense," Clark observed.

Arizona sliced a 24-point deficit to 7 while the Frankies were resting in a deliberate slowdown. Duquesne trailed by 15 in the second half and tied at 76 with 2:55 to go, but accurate foul shooting saved St. Francis.

Clark is hopeful his boys will be in better shape Saturday night, or he'll need another big lead and another slowdown. This figures to be a tough assignment. Temple is rough for

Blues Shade Penguins in Last Period

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Gerry Melnyk's third period goal gave the St. Louis Blues a 2-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Penguins Friday night in a National Hockey League game.

The Penguins broke out on top in the second period when Earl Ingarfield knocked in a rebound of his own shot. The Blues matched that with 43 seconds left in the period when Barclay Plager scored his first NHL goal.

Melnyk won the game when he poked in a rebound of a Ray Fortin shot at 3:52 of the final period.

a well team, let alone a sick crew.

Temple (7-2) has the most exciting player in the tournament if not the most valuable in 6-foot-1 guard Drew Nolan, Coach Harry Litwack admits he never knows what Nolan is going to do next. In the final clutch minutes against Wisconsin, for example Nolan threw the ball away, and blew a pair of free throws. Then, he came back to make a beautiful layup out of a dribble freeze, and converted two from the foul line.

Litwack has a pair of fine scorers in Clarence Brookins and John Baum, both also excellent rebounders. Temple has to be favored on its tenacious 2-3 and 3-2 zone defenses, superior rebounders and a more disciplined team offensively. The Owls have lost only to ranked Davidson by three points in the final of the Charlotte Invitation and to Pitt in an off night performance.

Penn meets Villanova for fifth place, and Duquesne battles Wisconsin for third in the first two games of a triple header.

76ers Whip Celtics, Lead by Four Games

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Billy Cunningham scored 36 points and Wilt Chamberlain 31 as the Philadelphia 76ers defeated the Boston Celtics 133-123 Friday night for their eighth straight National Basketball Association victory.

In gaining their first win over Boston in four games this season, the 76ers increased their first place margin in the eastern Division to 2½ games over the second place Celtics. A sell-out crowd of 15,239 turned out at the Spectrum to watch the battle.

Cunningham, favoring a sore ankle, scored 12 of his points in the final quarter when the Celtics rallied to come within six points of the 76ers.

Philadelphia took the lead early in the first period and never trailed as the 76ers built their margin to as much as 18 points in the third quarter. Philadelphia led 64-53 at half-time and 100-86 after three quarters.

John Havlicek topped the Boston scoring with 24 points as the South Street whipped Irvine-dale, 34-19 yesterday for its third straight Gra-Y Basketball League victory without a defeat.

Tim Nelson led the winners with 12 points and Robert Young scored ten. Walters was high for Irvine-dale with nine points.

A strong team effort gave Warren Area High School the championship in the Third Annual Holiday Wrestling Tournament last night.

The Dragons scored 95 points to edge runner-up Curwensville, taking four individual titles and placing all 12 grapplers. Steve Jones (120), Doug Sorensen (127), Mike Maines (145) and Bob Thompson (165) won championships, six Dragon grapplers were runners-up and two others placed third in the four-team tourney.

Curwensville closed with 83 points and five individual winners, high for the tourney. Defending champion Kittanning took third place with 58 team points and Jamestown one.

In addition to the four Dragons, the other individual champions were: 95-pounds—John Weisgarber, Curwensville; 103—Mike Young, Jamestown; 112—Kent Serene, Kittanning; 133—Gib Bressler, Curwensville; 138—Ron Stewart, Curwensville; 154—John Appleton, Curwensville; 180—Terry Claypool, Kittanning and heavyweight—Mike McClure, Curwensville.

Kittanning's Claypool was the only defending champion to retain his crown. Dane Sorensen of Warren, 103-pound titlist last year, was nipped by Kittanning's Serene, 1-0 in the 112-pound finale.

Warren, who went into the last night's finals with ten winners, had the team trophy sewed up after Maines blanked Larry Hickman of Kittanning, 6-0 at 145, but the eleven other Dragons contributed heavily to the Dragons' success.

Bob Sequist and Mark Williams got Warren off the mark with victories in 95-pound and 103-pound consolation bouts for third place and four team points each.

In the finals, Steve Jones turned in a clutch win at 120-pounds over Terry Morgan of Curwensville, 4-0 and Doug Sorensen whipped Kittanning's Tom Kijowski at 127, 4-1 to become Warren's first two champions. In the battle of unbeaten 133-pounds, Jim Mead of the Dragons gave Curwensville's Bressler all he could handle before falling, 6-1.

At 138, Warren's Steve Kaiser pushed Stewart of Curwensville right to the wire before losing, 5-3, then Maines turned in the clincher at 145 by romping over Kittanning's Larry Hickman, 6-0.

In one of the most exciting matches of the evening, Ray Lowe of the Dragons and Curwensville's Appleton battled to a 1-1 draw, then the Warren grappler lost a thriller in two overtime periods, 2-1.

Thompson turned in the upset of the evening at 165 by blanketing favored Chris Laddo of Curwensville, 2-0 to put the frosting on the championship cake. Laddo was undefeated going into the match and was one of four matmen unbeaten in dual competition who lost.

Warren's Darrel Pusateri and Kittanning's Claypool tied up in the 180-pound finals and the PIAA State semifinalist came away with a hard-earned 7-1 decision.

In the second overtime match of the evening, McClure of Curwensville finally defeated Lee

Nicks Bradley Struck by Car, Lost Two Weeks

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Bradley, the New York Knicks' high priced rookie, was struck by an automobile late Thursday night and will be lost to the team for 10 days to two weeks.

Bradley, a two-time All-American at Princeton and former Rhodes Scholar, suffered cuts and bruises to his left wrist, left ankle and right hip when struck by an automobile while crossing a street during a rainstorm.

The accident occurred near Madison Square Garden shortly after 10 p.m.

He was taken to St. Clair's Hospital for X-rays, which showed no fractures.

Team physician, Dr. Kazuo Yanagisawa said Bradley will be out of action at least 10 days.

Skiways Open Over Weekend

The Youngsville Skiways will be open from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Elmer Hill reports. Conditions are fair to good.

If the weather holds, the course will be open all weekend, including Monday and Tuesday of next week.

Battle of Offenses Seen in Gator Bowl

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Free-wheeling Florida State, wary of Penn State surprises, sends its passing attack against the Nittany Lions Saturday in the 23rd Gator Bowl football game that is expected to produce one of the holiday's highest-scoring duels.

Penn State, which has drilled behind locked doors preparing for the battle, is counting on balance to offset the surging Seminoles' aerial antics.

29th Annual Blue-Gray Game Today

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Blue and Gray-clad gridiron warriors from the North and South clash here Saturday in an all-star game which may develop into a bruising defensive struggle.

And if it does, the invading Yankee squad may well return home victorious for the second year in a row and the 13th time in the 29-year history of the annual Blue-Gray series. The North won last year 14-9.

Both squads assembled for the nationally televised game (CBS) have powerful, quick-hitting offensive combinations, particularly through the air, but the defense has been outstanding in the weeklong pregame workouts.

The North's head coach, Glenn Dobbs of Tulsa, has an awesome defensive line averaging 237 pounds and anchored by 6-foot-6, 255-pound Russell Washington of Missouri and McKinley Boston, 235, of Minnesota.

The South's head coach, Vince Dooley, directing the strategy for the Southerners, must get along on defense with a front wall averaging a mere 224 pounds.

Two of Dobbs' performers, defensive guard Wayne Meylan of Nebraska and defensive back Dick Anderson of Colorado, made the Associated Press All-America team this year, and so did Greg Pipes of Baylor, a defensive tackle for the South.

Another Rebel standout, line-backer D. D. Lewis of Mississippi State, was on the All-America second squad.

Cold weather and cloudy skies are forecast for the kickoff at 1:30 p.m. (EST) with the temperature in the low to middle 40s.

Csonka Vs. Beban in East-West

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Fifty thousand football fans will jam Candlestick Park Saturday to see All-American quarterback Gary Beban of UCLA and his pal tackle All-America fullback Larry Csonka and buddies in the Shrine's 43rd annual East-West football game.

This first Shrine game in the home of the baseball Giants will also be seen by a national television audience. A colorful pageant of thousands of school children and Shriners from many states precedes the game.

Head coaches Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame and the East and Ben Martin of the Air Force Academy and the West have been entrusted with 28-man squads of the nation's best college seniors. Most made All-America, or all-conference or all-sectional.

Beban won the Heisman, Pop Warner, Maxwell and Voit trophies as he led UCLA within sight of the Rose Bowl before losing 21-20 to Southern California.

Pro scouts have been eyeing fleet, elusive halfback Warren McVea of Houston; fullback Lee White of Weber State and end Phil Ode of Brigham Young among the Westerners. Halfback Haven Moses of San Diego State and end Joe Kowitz of San Francisco State are primed to receive Beban's aerials.

Csonka's number probably will be called by Michigan State's quarterback, Jimmy Raye, although Parseghian has been reluctant to choose between Raye and Gary Davis of Vanderbilt to start.

Other Eastern stars on the roster include Larry and Robert Taylor; end Jim Bierne and tackle Lance Olsen from Purdue; Bennie Garino, South Carolina halfback, and Harry Cieslewski, Clemson guard.

The 56 players have come from 42 schools in 25 states. They have drilled eight days on pro-type offenses.

Parseghian's East aides are Alex Agase of Northwestern and Paul Dietzel of South Carolina. Assisting Martin for the West are Dee Andros of Oregon State and Ray Wilsey of California.

The West leads the Shrine games, 20-17-5, but would like to wipe out memory of last year's 45-22 defeat, second worst in the series.

The West is a 3½ point favorite in a game that may be a test of its offense against the East's defense.

The game was moved from Kezar this year after complaints Kezar was outdated, lacked parking facilities and other criticism.

Takes Decision

BOLOGNA, Italy (AP) — Carlos Duran of Italy, European middleweight boxing champion, outpointed Teddy Wright of Detroit, in a 10-round match Tuesday night.

LEADS TROJANS AGAINST HOOSIERS

O. J. Simpson, everybody's All-America, leads the Southern California Trojans against the Indiana Hoosiers in the Rose Bowl classic on New Year's Day. Simpson, a junior college transfer student, won the major college rushing title and sparked the Trojans to the Pacific-8 crown over UCLA. (See story below)

Trojans, Hoosiers Ready For Rose Bowl Encounter

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Southern California's national champion Trojans and Indiana's hopeful Hoosiers neared the end of the line Friday in preparation for their New Year's Day Rose Bowl encounter.

Fairly vigorous workouts completed the main drills in the afternoon and if there was any grave tension abroad, it seemed to belong more to the loyal admirers of each team than to the team members in person.

There was a somber note from the Southern Cal camp, however, as one of the main cogs of its offense, right guard Mike Scarpace, underwent surgery for a torn ligament in his right knee.

Scarpace, a 250-pound senior who teamed with All-America tackle Ron Yary in opening daylight for halfback O. J. Simpson, was injured in scrimmage Thursday in a goal-line rush-defense maneuver.

Coach John McKay, obviously concerned about the bad break, said Scarpace, an All-Pacific-8 Conference member, would be replaced by Dennis Born, 235, also a senior.

Indiana's coach, John Pont, expressed regret about the Trojans' setback, termed Scarpace "a fine football player," and added, "It's hard to say how much the Trojans will miss him."

The Trojans will miss two other first line warriors, halfback Jim Lawrence, a letterman track sprinter, and Jimmy Gunn, a powerful sophomore defensive end, both of whom were later regular season casualties.

Gunn possessed great speed, also, while his replacement, Bill Hayhoe, at 6-3 and 254, is something else in this department.

"Gunn could catch their quarterback, Harry Gonso," said Coach McKay. "Hayhoe couldn't catch me."

Another Trojan speedster, Earl McCulloch, will shift to Lawrence's position, which means he'll have to block as well as catch passes.

McCulloch has never blocked in his life," said McKay, adding that Earl the Pearl, a hurdler, will be played wide as often as possible and leave the blocking to someone else.

The rival teams will have light workouts Saturday. That will end it for the Trojans, Indiana will limber up a bit Sunday. The Hoosiers will retire to a nearby monastery for the final two nights. The Trojans will rough it in an unidentified hotel.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Underdog Oklahoma tapered off for its Orange Bowl football game against Tennessee Friday with three admitted worries—team tiredness, the Vols' trouble shooter, Charley Fulton, and injury to an ace safemate.

"We'd like to know what they're going to do with Fulton," said Oklahoma's head coach, Chuck Fairbanks. "He's one of the best all-around players we've faced. He can hurt you in a hundred ways."

Fairbanks ordered shorter and lighter drills for his Sooners, saying, "Our boys appear a bit tired," and he said there was about a 50-50 chance that Steve Barrett, his No. 1 defensive safety, would be ready for Monday night's game.

Barrett suffered an ankle injury Wednesday and has not suited up for the last two days.

"We would hate not to have Barrett," the Oklahoma coach said. "He's strong where Tennessee hurts most—out in the passing area. He intercepted three passes and saved the game for us against Nebraska."

Second-ranked Tennessee, a 6½ point choice over its third-ranked opponent, also has some nagging injuries.

Richmond Flowers, star pass receiver, is limping slightly from a bruise on his right knee. Tailback Walter Chadwick also has an ankle injury and first string offensive tackle Elliott Gammage has a pulled thigh muscle.

"We think Flowers' injury is the less serious—he'll be okay," said Tennessee's Coach Doug Dickey.

Bryant, who has had three national championships at Alabama, says this year's team "is a good team but it has not come up to my expectations."

But he still would like to beat Stallings' Aggies in the Cotton Bowl so nobody might think he was offering an alibi.

He made one concession though. "If I had to lose I would rather it be to Stallings than anybody else."

NFL TITLE GAME TOMORROW

Packers' Jim Grabowski Back for Cowboys Clash

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The Green Bay Packers finished heavy work Friday for Sunday's National Football League title game with the Dallas Cowboys and heard the cheering word that Jim Grabowski, the Packers' leading ground gainer, is expected to play for the first time in five weeks.

After the Packers' 40-minute drill, Coach Vince Lombardi said Grabowski had looked real good all week despite the knee injury which will require surgery after the season.

"As matters stand right now," said Lombardi, "I expect Grabowski to play. I don't know how much."

Chuck Marcin, the New York Giant castoff, started last week against Los Angeles and scored an important touchdown in the victory that gave the Packers the Western Conference title.

While the Packers were finishing their work, the Cowboys were drilling at home and then flying into Green Bay, Coach Tom Landry's Eastern Conference champions planned to work out briefly on electrically heated Lambeau Field Saturday afternoon.

The forecast for Sunday calls for partly cloudy weather, a few snow flurries, winds at 10 to 15 miles an hour and temperatures in the middle or upper teens. It was eight below zero Thursday night.

Lombardi said he plans to start Donny Anderson at the other running back position, alternating him with Travis Williams, as he did against the Rams. "We'll go with the man who has the hot hand," said Lombardi. "I'd like to use them both in the same backfield, but we're too thin in running backs."

Lombardi has four runners, including Ben Wilson, who is not expected to see heavy action. Lombardi said Wilson still limped in the final drill.

"I'm hoping for a good ball game," said Lombardi. "I'd like to win it, and I'll be very much disappointed if we don't. Most of all I'd like to see us play well."

Asked if Dallas' varied offense would affect the Packers, Lombardi replied, "I don't think so. We have seen it before. But I'd hate to be playing them for the first time."

Bob Jeter, the right cornerback who will have first responsibility for handling speedy Bob Hayes, was priming himself for another big challenge. Last year, he held Hayes to one catch in the title game won by the Packers 34-27.

"The big problem is stopping the bomb," said Jeter. "But if we can contain Hayes, we still have to contend with another man, Lance Rentzel, an underrated receiver."

"Hayes is fast, but I don't think about his speed. I don't think there is a quarterback who can throw the ball farther than I can go and get it. Sometimes I'll have him alone on the fly pattern. Sometimes Willie Wood or Tom Brown will help me out. If he gets a step on you, there's no way you can catch him. You have to get to the ball at the same time or before."

With the exception of the backfield situation, Lombardi plans no other changes in the line-up that beat the Rams last Saturday. Ken Bowman again will open at center with rookie Bob Hyland ready for quick call in case of trouble.

Oilers Plan Ground Attack for Raiders

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The Houston Oilers won the American Football League's Eastern title within old-fashioned grind-it-out brand of football and Coach Wally Lemm promises it will be no different Sunday when they meet Oakland for the AFL crown.

"We plan no changes," said Lemm, who sent the Oilers through their final workout at Houston Friday before flying here.

The Oilers and Raiders both work out behind closed doors for the last time Saturday at the Oakland Coliseum.

Lemm says the Oilers have to control the ball to upset the Raiders, who stormed to the Western crown with 10 straight victories and an AFL record 13-1 mark who are favored by 10½ points. Houston is 9-4-1.

A sellout crowd of more than 53,000 is expected to watch the game which will decide the AFL representative in the Jan. 14 Super Bowl against the National League champion in Miami.

This game will be nationally televised by NBC starting at 5 p.m. EST.

Should the game end in a tie, it will be decided by a sudden death overtime, the first team scoring by any means being the champion.

It was ball control, a punishing ground game and an opportunistic defense that turned the Oilers from a fourth place finish in 1966 to division champion in '67.

"This club has a great attitude and dedication," says Lemm. "They are the greatest group of players I've ever been associated with."

The Oilers use Hoyle Granger's power rushes to pound out most of their yardage. He gained more than 100 yards rushing in 7 of Houston's 14 games, and finished with 1,194, second only to Boston's Jim Nance.

Dan Connors, middlelinebacker in Oakland's defense, has plenty of respect for Granger. "He exerts constant drive and leg power and always gives a second effort," said Connors, who added:

"When Granger wasn't running for the Oilers, Woodie Campbell was."

Campbell gained 511 yards, ninth best in the league.

Pete Beathard is the Oilers quarterback. The Raiders seem more worried about his scrambling than his passing.

"All he needs is the slightest excuse to run, and he'll hurt you," says Ben Davidson, the Raiders' all-AFL defensive end.

Statistically, Beathard, who came to the Oilers in a mid-season trade from Kansas City, didn't do well. He ranked ninth among the league's passers and he needed strong games against San Diego and Miami in his last two starts to reach that spot.

But after trading for Beathard, the Oilers lost only 2 of their last 10 games.

Beathard may have his hands full Sunday against Davidson, Connors and the rest of the defense the Raiders call their 11 Angry Men. They dumped enemy quarterbacks 67 times for 666 yards.

Beathard escaped unscathed in Houston's 19-7 loss to the Raiders.

"We didn't reach him last time," says the 6-foot-8 280-pound Davidson, "but we hope to get in there this time."

Oilers Star Was Sought By Oakland

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Hoyle Granger, who could be the difference if the Houston Oilers defeat the Oakland Raiders Sunday for the American Football League championship, might have been a Raider.

Al Davis, managing general partner of the Raiders, told about it Friday. He said he sent Wayne Valley, Oakland co-owner, to an AFL draft meeting with explicit instructions to sign Granger, a husky young fullback for Mississippi State, Valley didn't, Houston did.

Meanwhile, Oakland acquired tight end Hewitt Dixon from Denver and converted him to a sometimes slashing, sometimes powerful fullback.

He improved steadily. While the Raiders held Granger to 78 yards at Houston three weeks ago in a 19-7 victory, Dixon scored Oakland's lone touchdown on a 27-yard explosive burst.

Dixon has rushed 153 times for 559 yards and caught 59 passes for 563 this season. Granger had 1,194 yards on 237 carries and caught 31 passes for 300 yards.

"If any two fullbacks in pro football are comparable," Davis remarked, "they are Dixon and Granger. Both are strong runners and good receivers."

Davis doesn't sound too disappointed at having lost Granger. "What could we do with two fullbacks?" he asked.

Don Abbey Out For Penn State

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Penn State will be without the services of fullback Don Abbey when the Nittany Lions meet Florida State in the Gator Bowl football game Saturday.

Abbey suffered a sprained knee last Friday at the only controlled scrimmage the team has had since coming to Florida. Efforts to bring it around have failed and Penn State officials said Abbey won't even dress for the game.

He will be replaced by Dan Lucyk, a 204-pound senior. Abbey had beat out Lucyk for the job of first string fullback last fall.

British Net Star Joins Pro Circuit

LONDON (AP) — Roger Taylor, Britain's No. 1 player, turned professional Friday, an act that may be the first in a series which may change the entire tennis world.

The ruggedly handsome Taylor signed a three-year contract that guarantees him at least $100,000 in that period with Dave Dixon, New Orleans promoter, who is dangling similar contracts before the Australian pair of Tony Roche and John Newcombe.

Already in Dixon's stable are Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., and Earl Buchholz of St. Louis plus Pierre Barthès of France, and Cliff Drysdale of South Africa. Nikkie Pilic of Yugoslavia is expected to follow Taylor's step shortly.

The wholesale defection of the world's top amateur players' will change the Davis Cup outlook for 1968 drastically. Australia, which won the huge international trophy for the eleventh time in 13 years Thursday will rely on untested players.

It is also possible that Wimbledon, long the world's greatest amateur tournament, will become an Open tournament with pros and amateurs both competing. The British Tennis association already has announced its intentions of making it such despite a threat of suspension by the International Tennis Federation.

If Wimbledon does become an Open tournament and an amateur competes in it, he could be suspended by the ITF and thus be lost to his country's Davis Cup team. As it is, if Dixon succeeds in hiring the Australians and Pilic, only one Wimbledon semifinalist of 1967, Willie Bunge of Germany, would be left among the amateurs.

Employment Level Rises

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania employment totaled 4,683,000 during November, the state Labor and Industry reported Friday.

This was approximately 16,100 higher than that of October and 4,700 above the level for November a year ago, Secretary William J. Hart said.

Holiday buying sent retail trades employment sharply upward, Hart said. Nonmanufacturing industries in general were subject to strong seasonal influences, he added.

Urges Creation of a Unicameral Legislature

HARRISBURG (AP) — A veteran Republican House member urged the Constitutional Convention's Legislative Apportionment Committee Friday to recommend the creation of a unicameral legislature for Pennsylvania.

Rep. Francis Worley, R-Adams, who has served in the House for more than 21 years, proposed that a single 200-member chamber be created to replace the state's bicameral legislature.

The convention has been advised by its legal staff that abolition of the two-chamber legislature would be beyond its limited jurisdiction. However, Worley said he did not agree with the opinion and believed the convention's mandate was broad enough to cover the matter.

Worley said a unicameral legislature would attract "a higher type of citizen" to become a legislator and lessen the chances of machine rule.

Moreover, he said the system would cost only about half as much as it does to operate a two-chamber legislature.

A freshman House member, Rep. Gerald Kaufman, D-Allentown, told the committee the 203-member House should be reduced to 100 or 120 members.

Kaufman also recommended that legislators' salaries be increased and that each member be given a research staff.

Currently Pennsylvania's House is the fourth largest in the nation, Kaufman said, and too large to function efficiently.

"A House of such unwieldy size as Pennsylvania's generates negotiations between political factions instead of reasoning between individual members who have the necessary information to make intelligent decisions," he said.

The present system, he added, "encourages a legislative program whereby the majority party merely rubber stamps the governor's proposals with little consideration given to the merits of the proposals or how they might be improved."

Kaufman said that increased salaries would induce persons to become full-time legislators.

The state now pays its legislators $7,200 a year salary, plus $4,800 in expenses.

"I submit that cheaply paid legislators are a bad bargain for the people of Pennsylvania," Kaufman said. "How many good and able men have been forced to give up their legislative seats because they are unable to meet their commitments to their family or their business back home."

Milton J. Shapp, testifying for the Democratic Study Committee, also proposed reducing the size of the legislature: the House to 160 members and the 50-seat Senate to 40 members.

Shapp, the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for governor in 1966, also suggested the creation of an 11-member legislative apportionment commission, eight members to be named by the legislature, two former governors and the incumbent governor.

The commission would be required to submit a reapportionment plan within seven months of the certification of the federal census.

Mrs. Gustave Ehrenberg of Philadelphia, a director of the League of Women Voters, said her organization favors reducing the size of the legislature and increasing pay for legislators.

Raymond Poincaré, one time president of France, was one of the great mathematicians of his time.

High Court Judge Named

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer appointed a Philadelphia attorney, John B. Hannum, to the seven-member Superior Court Friday.

Hannum, 52, whose home is in Unionville, Chester County, was named to succeed President Judge Harold L. Ervin of Drexel Hill, Delaware County, who resigned, effective Jan. 1.

Hannum may serve in the $35,500-a-year judgeship until January 1969 at which time a judge, elected next November will begin a 10-year term.

Several Drivers Cited by Police

A Bemus Point, N.Y., man was cited for driving on the wrong side of the highway following a two-car traffic accident at 1:25 a.m. Friday on Market st. near Seventh ave.

Borough police Sgt. Roger Unelin said a car driven by Michael D. Schofield of Bemus Point, traveling north on Market crossed into the southbound lane of traffic and struck a southbound car operated by John J. Wolfe, of 506 Buchanan st., Warren.

Total damage was listed at $900.

Two young men were arrested while the early morning accident was being investigated. Officer Robert Kates was posted north of the accident scene to prevent cars rounding a curve in the highway; in stopping one car, Kates reported, he found two young Warren area men with a quantity of beer in their possession.

Police said summons will be sent Kenneth Stanley Schench, 20, RD 1, Clarendon, and Bradley A. Robbins, 19, RD Bear Lake, citing them for possession of alcoholic beverages by persons under 21.

A Warren driver was cited for reckless driving following a 10:45 a.m. accident Friday in front of Red Cross headquarters on Market st.

Police said a car driven by Thomas Edward Kohler, 16 Park st., Warren, traveling west on Fourth ave., turned north on Market when the light turned green and hit a parked car. Custodian of the legally parked vehicle, police stated, was Karen Roberta Knowlton, 106 Sixth ave., Warren.

Total damage was listed at $900.

Missing Youth Is Located

TITUSVILLE—A local youth who was reported missing from his home since 6:30 p.m. Monday has been located, Titusville police stated Thursday.

The youth, identified as Stephen Grant Lockhart, 17, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Grant W. Lockhart of Titusville, had returned to college in Anderson, Ind. He had been home on a holiday vacation.

Police said that when Lockhart left his home Monday he was wearing a checked shirt and no coat.

Co. Defense Board Updates Food Lists

Warren County Defense Board met Thursday afternoon at the Courthouse.

Various United States Department of Agriculture agencies making up county and state defense boards are each assigned different functions in rural protection in all emergencies and disasters, including nuclear attack.

Attending Thursday's meeting were Gerald Bensink, of Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service; Lyle Cathcart, Soil Conservation Service; Bernard Wingert, Agricultural Extension Service; James Wygant, of Corry, Farm Home Administration; and Lee Sutton, assistant forest ranger, Sheffield Ranger District, representing ranger Norman Koller, for the U.S. Forest Service.

At the meeting, the food facilities listings for the entire Warren County area were brought up to date, and sent to the Pennsylvania State Defense Board in Harrisburg.

A.S.C.S. is responsible, in the Defense Board set-up, for food distribution and production.

Soil Conservation Service is assigned to radiological monitoring responsibilities.

Farm Home Administration serves as a fiscal agency. Cooperative Extension Service has the job of communication, instructing residents of rural areas in case of disaster, and providing continuing education in this phase of national defense.

The U.S. Forest Service is responsible for fire protection and prevention, and fire-fighting.

Forester Sutton Speaks to Panel

Forester Lee Sutton, formerly of the staff of Blue Jay Job Corps Center, presently assistant ranger on the Sheffield Ranger District of Allegheny National Forest, was speaker at a meeting of the Warren County Technical Action Panel at the Courthouse this week.

Sutton discussed programs and activities which are carried out in the Job Corps center. He cited examples of progress and development of boys who came to Blue Jay center from homes of extreme poverty, completely illiterate. These young men were able to learn to read and write, acquired many skills, and developed their potentials to become useful self-supporting citizens, making their contribution to the economy instead of being public charges, Sutton said.

One example cited by Sutton was that of a young man who attended for only a short time as a Job Corpsman. He was something of a problem, and trouble-maker, and finally was discharged from Blue Jay Center. The staff felt that since they could not keep him and complete his program, they had failed. However, later on they received a letter from the boy's mother, reporting that whereas before he came to Blue Jay Job Corps Center he had been rejected by the Army, with the

Police Patrols Increased

Pennsylvania State Police patrols plan a strict law enforcement policy in order to prevent a recurrence of the terrible weekend that has just passed.

Captain Robert L. Dunham, commanding office, Troop "E," said orders have come from the Governor and State Police Commissioner to immediately effect any safeguards to reduce the unnecessary loss by deaths on the highways.

Dunham said increased patrols will be out on the highways over the 78 hour New Year's weekend. The period of concentrated patrols started at 6 p.m. yesterday and will end at midnight Monday.

All substation commanders in the Erie, Crawford, Venango and Warren County area, have been instructed to have all available man-power on the road over the holiday period, the captain said.

Marked, as well as unmarked cars will be used. Concentrated patrols in areas having a high number of accidents are scheduled and all attempts will be made to prevent driving patterns that create an accident situation.

Capt. Dunham noted that many people in celebrating the coming of the New Year will allow themselves to cheat on traffic laws. It is against the law to drive under the influence of alcohol; to go beyond the posted speed limit or drive too fast for conditions; to glide past a stop sign without stopping or to pass when it isn't safe.

These are the common causes of accidents, the captain added, in order to cope with the increase in accidents on the highways, there will be no leniency shown motorists. Anyone observed violating the laws will be arrested and prosecuted. No leniency will be shown.

Warren County 1967 — the Year in Review

January

Jan. 3—Holiday traffic accidents in Warren were kept to the minimum by safe driving with only three reported. At the Merrill Livezey residence on the Russell-Lander road, however, their cow tried to jump over the moon, but landed in a farm pond and crashed through the ice. The bovine victim was rescued by a strong tractor.

Jan. 4—The Times-Mirror and Observer announced the birth of the winner of the 1967 Baby sweepstakes. The New Year's infant was born at 8:42 p.m., Jan. 3 to Mr. and Mrs. John Wood, of 622 Pleasant dr., Warren. The first Republican candidate for the office of county commissioner in the May primary, James A. Bloomquist, announced his intentions.

Jan. 5—Controversy arose over a $1,000 pay raise for county planner Robert Peterson but was approved three to one by the county salary board. Peterson had been receiving $8,000 a year. Commissioner Blain M. Mead cast the dissenting vote.

Jan. 6—Alfred Rau and Henry LeMour were appointed by the board of directors of National Forge Company to head the company's two operating divisions. Rau became vice president and general manager of the newly designated National Forge Division and LeMour vice president and general manager of Pressure Systems Division. W. Robert Walsh announced his candidacy for the post of county commissioner on the Republican ticket.

Jan. 7—Governor William W. Scranton signed construction plans for the Youngsville bypass as State Senator Richard C. Frame looked on.

Jan. 9—A RDI, Sugar Grove resident, Terrance Lee Rutsky, was listed in satisfactory condition at Warren General Hospital following an accident on Route 69, one mile south of Sugar Grove.

Jan. 10—Warren borough council cut one mill off local taxes, dropping from 17 mills to 16 and a continuance of the $5 per capita tax. The Redevelopment Authority saw tenants living on retired incomes as posing one of the largest problems facing the borough's second urban renewal project.

Jan. 11—In a session that lasted only a few minutes, Lewis L. Crippen was re-elected as chairman of the Commissioners of the Rouse Estate. D. H. Lay moved Crippen's election with the chairman providing the necessary second.

Jan. 12—A long awaited day arrived for the Warren area. The day when the gates of Kinzua Dam would be closed to start final impoundment of the Allegheny Reservoir became a reality and the river's waters started climbing slowly toward a full pool.

Jan. 13 (and a Friday)—Low cost apartments for the elderly people of Warren borough are being planned by Warren Housing, a group sponsored by the Commissioners of the Rouse Estate. It will operate on a non-profit basis.

Jan. 14—Andrew J. Donick, manager Warren State Employment office, reported a continuing low rate of unemployment for the county of only 1.7 per cent of the work force, with unemployment of 300. Word was received of the death in Vietnam of Spec. 4 Larry Clarence Haylett, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Haylett, RDI, Grand Valley. He was hit by a mortar shell fragment.

Jan. 16—Warren Area High School's student council opened a drive to obtain funds to support a foreign exchange student at the school during the academic year 1967-68. The group planned selling shares of stock in the program with Mayor D. E. Conaway purchasing the first shares.

Jan. 17—Warren County school teachers, through their association, asked for an across the board increase of about $600 for the 1967-68 school year. Another Republican, John Teconchuk of RDI, Pittsfield, announced he was a candidate for nomination as county commissioner.

Jan. 18—The county's zoning law was questioned in court by trailer residents. Robert L. Peterson and his wife, Esther, stated the court action brought was an attempt to solve the overall mobile home problem vs. zoning in the county.

Jan. 19—Sub-zero temperatures in the wake of a cold wave that covered western Pennsylvania were experienced for the first time this year in Warren County. The coldest recording was a 10 below at Tiona.

Jan. 20—A resident of Mason's Mobile Court and employee of Pittsburgh Des Moines was killed in a head-on collision near Wilmington, Delaware. Steve Murman, 48, and the driver of the other car were dead when brought to Wilmington General Hospital. Kermit Forsgren was unanimously re-elected president of the Warren County Planning Commission. Robert Dilks was named Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau chairman for 1967.

Jan. 21—A 78-year-old Warren County man was listed in critical condition at Corry Memorial Hospital. Injured in a truck-train accident was Jesse C. Manwaring of Bear Lake.

Jan. 23—Jesse C. Manwaring a former Bear Lake councilman and an active church leader died yesterday of injuries received. He was the first traffic fatality of 1967 in Warren County.

Jan. 24—Borough police issued their annual warning about youngsters playing on the ice formed on both Conewango Creek and Allegheny River. Officers had spent nearly an hour and a half rounding up ten offenders involved in three separate incidents.

Jan. 25—William J. Mack, a native of Warren County, was killed in Vietnam late last week the Department of Defense announced. The 20-year-old infantryman was the son of Laverne Mack of Clarendon and Mrs. Dorothy H. Mack, Buffalo, N.Y. Warren's Redevelopment Authority received federal approval for Part I of its first urban renewal project.

Jan. 26—Pointing out the Warren community has a recreational opportunity equal to that in any other section of the nation, Richard Costley, speaking in Warren, said that what is done with that opportunity depends entirely on the planning and support it receives at the local level.

Jan. 27—D.H. (Deac) Lay announced he will seek the Republican nomination for re-election to a second term as county commissioner.

Jan. 28—An 87-year-old woman who usually walks with the aid of two canes walked through a wall of fire to escape from her burning trailer. She was Mrs. Catherine Rasmussen, 87, of 230 Kinzua rd. Wrapping herself in a robe and blanket she went through the flames, out the door and to the nearby house of her son-in-law.

Jan. 30—The annual Mothers March for the March of Dimes, sponsored by the Zonta Club of Warren opened at 7 p.m. today. It was announced the price of the Type A School lunch in the Warren County School District would increase five cents per FATALLY INJURED when a tractor trailer rig struck this highway department truck in Youngsville in February was Clare P. Theuret of RD 3, Spartansburg.

February

Feb. 1—An early morning explosion yesterday caused an estimated $3,000 damage at Lorange Mfg. Company at 36 Clark st. The receiving tank on a steam boiler blew up and took out a section of wall.

Feb. 2—Warren borough's fire chief, Leon H. Mintzer, 59, of 124 Callender street, died at 2:20 a.m. at Warren General Hospital. The veteran fireman had been with the department since July of 1926 and assumed the post of fire chief on February 13, 1961. County Commissioner Lewis L. Crippen, a Democrat, announced he would seek a fourth term.

Feb. 3—Everett Atwell, who resides on the Chapman Dam road, called yesterday to advise that in his neighborhood the ground hog and robin red-breast apparently got their signals crossed as to which was to predict the weather. Atwell spotted a robin perched in an apple tree about 9 a.m.

Feb. 4—Democrat Thomas J. Donnelly last night announced he would enter the race for the office of county commissioner. When Mayor Donald E. Conaway threw the switch last evening at the Warren Television antenna and transmitter, he inaugurated programming of 11 different TV channels plus about 20 different FM radio stations.

Feb. 6—Warren with the rest of the eastern seaboard, braced itself for three to six inches of snow by tonight.

Feb. 7—The Warren County Commissioners, with other representatives of local government, plan to be in Bradford lunch, effective Feb. 1.

Jan. 31—Several local businessmen have been fooled into paying what they thought were bills for Yellow Page ads—but were not. The Warren Area Chamber of Commerce said a number of businesses in the Warren Area have received what appear to be bills from Bell Telephone, for classified advertising and several merchants have paid the sums listed on the bogus bills.

today to participate in a 1 p.m. workshop session. The meeting was called to further a proposal to create a regional airport authority.

Feb. 8—Indications in Bradford yesterday pointed to the creation of a regional airport authority to handle the possibility of an expanded air transportation facility at the Bradford-McKean Airport. Blain M. Mead has at last announced his intent for the May 16 primary—he will run for re-election as county commissioner bringing the total of Republicans seeking the post to seven.

Feb. 9—Mr. and Mrs. James Gordon and their daughter Christine, 3, were without a home last night after fire destroyed their mobile home and nearly all its contents. The Gordons lived at 510 River rd. Temperatures plummeted with Warren's low at 11 below and 24 below at Morrison Run.

Feb. 10—Chief Deputy Sheriff Richard E. Hegerty is continuing his investigation into the death of a 19-year-old Kinzua Heights man. The youth, who lived in a rented room at 63 Mohawk ave., Warren, was found dead after police were called at 6:10 p.m. Wednesday. Hegerty said there is no reason yet to suspect foul play.

Feb. 11—An early morning fire at the Irwin Manufacturing Company in Garland destroyed the hammerboard department. A plant representative estimated damage at $175,000. The entire area for about a square mile is reported to have been blanketed by a heavy cloud of black smoke which hung to the ground.

Feb. 13—Eugene Leseman Jr., president of Sheffield Chamber of Commerce is elected director of Sheffield's Johnny Appleseed Fall Festival.

Feb. 14—After three public hearings, a number of other meetings and several years of drawing up a proposed new zoning ordinance, the revised and amended document passed first reading only last night. Teachers of the Warren County Schools will receive an increase of approximately $700 in their 1967-68 salaries. Warren County School directors last night deferred action on the vocational-technical school project.

Feb. 15—The 10th Republican candidate for nomination May 16 to the office of county commissioner tossed his hat into the ring yesterday. James G. Marshall, of RD 1, Tidioute, also will seek the GOP nomination.

Feb. 16—The Warren County Education Association, to which most of the county's teachers belong, met in Warren's K of C. Hall last night. They discussed the salary schedule passed Monday by the Warren County School District. The schedule sets minimum pay of $5,100 and graduates it upward through nine steps in three categories. No statement was made last night by the association. The meeting was closed to the press.

Feb. 17—A fast moving wind storm moved across Pennsylvania early yesterday leaving behind it vast property damage. Both Pennsylvania Electric Co. and Bell Telephone reported storm damage in Warren County. Penelec had most of its difficulties in the Russell-Akeley area and near Pittsfield. A tank blew off at United Refining and smashed into Penelec lines.

Feb. 18—Maj. Myron Kirberger Jr., USAF (retired), of 1840 Jackson Run rd., is the 11th Republican to announce his candidacy for the post of county commissioner.

Feb. 20—A Warren man was injured in New York State this weekend. Joseph Critelli, 24, of 1301 Pennsylvania ave. e., was reported in satisfactory condition following a mishap on Route 62 near Fentonville, N.Y. He was reportedly trapped in the wreckage of the car that hung precariously over a bridge.

Feb. 21—A 56-year-old father of 11 children, four of them at home, was killed early yesterday morning at the intersection of Route 6 and Route 27 in Youngsville. Dead is Clare

March

March 1—Warren County recorded its third highway fatality in 1967 early yesterday morning with the death of a 43-year-old Chancellors Valley woman. Dead is Eileen Rae Brooks. Death was caused by being run over by an automobile.

Mar. 2—A Warren firm has been awarded a $1,032,897 Army contract to provide ammunition clips for use in Vietnam. G.G. Green Enterprises, with offices at 1235 Conewango ave., was awarded the contract by Finford Arsenal in Philadelphia, according to the office of Senator Hugh Scott.

Mar. 3—Broken trusses forced a closing of the Route 6 bridge at Irvine to heavy trucks and vehicles yesterday afternoon. Automobiles and trucks up to one and one half tons will not be effected by the order. The structure was closed at 4 p.m.

Mar. 4—Two men throttled and roughed up a Warren State Hospital attendant yesterday morning, took his keys and escaped from the institution. They were captured in the Cataldo barn, situated north of Warren, between S. State street and Route 62.

Mar. 6—The Allegheny National Forest was visited by a contingent of the Special Forces. The military group was there to make plans for possibly using parts of the forest for training in September and October.

Mar. 7—Warren County Commissioners in a two to one vote, as predicted, approved this county's participation in forming a regional airport.

Mar. 8—Youngsville Fair for 1967 is still without a site. The fair's board met last night and has postponed until the April 4 meeting any decision on where the fair will be located.

Mar. 9—A grand conjunction of historical luminaries of Pennsylvania were gathered to commemorate a historic occasion last night when the Warren County Historical Society was officially presented with the Award of Merit of the American Society for State and Local History.

Mar. 13—Dragging operations in Conewango Creek ended near dusk yesterday for the body of a Lakewood, N.Y. man reported missing Friday afternoon. Firemen from Russell and neighboring companies, as well as local boaters, began the search late Friday and worked from 8 a.m. yesterday.

Mar. 14—Warren borough council through a 13 to five vote last night approved a new zoning ordinance. "Ernie" Fitzgerald, who has been both assistant fire chief and acting chief last night was unanimously named chief. The veteran firefighter was certified by the civil service commission following a non-competitive examination.

Mar. 15—The Warren borough police department in maintaining its status of progress by acquiring equipment developed by scientific contributions and developments has put into use four, belt-type walkie-talkies and several "tear gas" bottles.

Mar. 16—Telephone operators went on strike throughout Pennsylvania at midnight. Picket lines were scheduled to start at Warren and Kane offices this morning. How much the strike will affect phone service in the Warren area was not known last night.

Mar. 17—The 1967 budget for Warren County jumped $51,935 but millage remains firm. The county commissioners yesterday gave tentative approval to a $992,085 budget compared to $940,150 last year. Millage is unchanged—seven mills.

Mar. 18—What might be termed the "last leg" toward filling Kinzua Dam to the desired summer pool of 1,328 feet above sea level is progressing satisfactorily according to a report from Jack Ewers, manager of the huge inundment.

Mar. 20—An eight-year-old girl and a 54-year-old woman were killed yesterday afternoon when the car in which they rode went out of control on Route 59 north of Sugar Grove and hit a bridge abutment. The accident brought to four the number of road deaths in the county this year.

Mar. 21—A clash between picketing telephone operators and business office service representatives reporting to work was avoided yesterday when borough police stepped in. James Holding, Bell Telephone's district manager, said pickets formed a shoulder-to-shoulder line and tried to prevent business office workers from entering the building.

Mar. 23—Fire badly damaged the Theodore Allshouse residence at 41 Weiler rd., Starbrick, last night. Smoke was still billowing from the house when the TMO went to press at 1 a.m. The family was visiting with neighbors when the fire started.

Mar. 24—The proposed Route 6 bypass for Warren borough continues to move closer to becoming a reality. Senator Richard C. Frame said the feasibility and alternate locality study for the bypass has been completed by the consultants, Rummel, Klepper and Kahl.

Mar. 31—A check for $1,148.89 was presented to the county commissioners yesterday by the Warren County Probation Association. The amount represented six months interest from the endowment fund.

April

April 1—Warren Housing Inc., organized to construct and operate apartments for medium income elderly citizens of Warren County, is circulating a questionnaire to determine in advance of final plans the approximate number of apartments that will be needed.

April 3—County fire departments appeared to have little time to enjoy almost perfect weather this week as at least 13 grass fires were reported in the area along with a gas pipe leak, a car fire and dragging operations.

April 4—Railroad track negotiations have temporarily derailed the Youngsville bypass project.

April 6—An obstacle of Youngsville bypass construction has reportedly been removed. The New York Central Railroad has received permission from the Interstate Commerce Commission to use Pennsylvania Railroad tracks between Irvine and Warren.

April 8—The Hoffman Home has taken steps to meet the requirements of the Pennsylvania departments of labor, industry and public welfare. The trustees of the Nancy L. Hoffman Fund yesterday gave tentative approval to construction and renovation at the home.

April 11—Council was approached by the Allegheny Industrial Park principals, J. Albert Loranger and Ernest C. Miller, to purchase the Warren Airport for $100,000 in fee simple for construction of an industrial park in that section.

April 14—The Warren County Commissioners yesterday named two Warren men to serve on the proposed regional airport authority. Appointed were John W. Lutz, controller for Sylva Electric Products and Le Roy W. Schneck, program director for Northern Allegheny Broadcasting Co.

April 19—Local fire departments, state police and borough police last evening took part in an extensive search of Conewango Creek following a report that an object thought to be a body appeared in the swollen stream.

April 21—Warren borough police early yesterday morning surprised two men who had entered Lewis Market at 303 Pennsylvania ave. East. Officers were faced by stiff resistance from one.

April 25—Bids for the proposed Route 6 Youngsville bypass were awarded in Harrisburg yesterday. Low bidder was S.J. Groves & Son of North Syracuse, N.Y. in the amount of $5,833,418.

April 28—Nellie S. Samuelson, 77, of 513 Conewango ave., was killed in a two-car traffic accident at Cleveland early yesterday.

April 29—William M. Crouse, 76, of 514 Fourth ave., died at 1:40 a.m. yesterday at Warren General Hospital. He was injured in a four-car accident on Fourth avenue Thursday afternoon. Borough police listed his death as Warren's first 1967 traffic fatality.

May

May 5—Indications are that arsonists caused a fire which gutted a camp on the Farnsworth Run rd. early yesterday morning. Clarendon firemen were called at 7 a.m. when three men driving by noticed the flames and turned in the alarm. ## State's Top 10 Stories

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — It was shortly before 8 a.m. Oct. 23 when Leo Held walked into the Hammermill Paper Co. plant at Lock Haven and, without warning, opened fire with a pistol.

When he left the plant a short time later, five workers were dead and four were wounded.

Later, Held drove back to his Loganton home, went to the dwelling of a neighbor, Donald Quiggle, and shot him dead as he slept in bed. Quiggle's wife also was wounded.

The bloody rampage in Central Pennsylvania was voted the top news story in Pennsylvania in 1967 in a poll of Associated Press member newspapers, radio and television stations.

The continuing Constitutional Convention story — voter approval of the convention in April, election of delegates in November and start of the convention in December — was runnerup in the annual voting.

In third place, only two votes behind, was the year-long story of the bickering by the General Assembly in trying to come up with a tax package to balance the state budget.

Top 10 winners were picked on the basis of 10 points for each first place vote, nine for second, eight for third, etc.

Rounding out the Top 10:

No. 4 — The massive electric power failure that affected 10 million residents in portions of eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland.

No. 5 — The fiery crash near Blossburg of a Mohawk Airlines jet that killed all 34 persons aboard.

No. 6 — One man killed and scores injured in a wildcat strike by independent steel truckers that tied up steel shipments in five states.

No. 7 — James H. J. Tate re-elected mayor of Philadelphia as he overcomes opinion polls, his own party bosses and a young Republican candidate.

No. 8 — University of Pennsylvania freshman John Green's body found in a trunk floating in the Delaware River. Philadelphia tobaccoist charged in the grisly slaying.

No. 9 — Racial unrest hovers over Philadelphia. State of limited emergency declared, police put on 12-hour shifts with no days off.

No. 10 — Seven persons killed when a revolver test firing apparently set off 350 pounds of gunpowder at a Shamokin Dam gunshop.

The Lock Haven story, was, however, the only one of 16 Top 10 nominees that received votes on each returned ballot.

Police could only surmise what caused Held to go on his shooting spree. The carnage apparently was ignited, they said, by a dispute Held had with members of his car pool, his boss and a neighbor.

After leaving the Hammermill plant, police said, Held went to the Piper Aircraft Co. a mile away. There he shot and wounded a neighbor, who had driven Held to his job.

At the Quiggle home, Held gathered an arsenal and retreated to a field behind his home. There he battled police until he was mortally wounded.

Held died later without revealing any motive.

ADDITIONAL PARKING was made available at the foot of Liberty street behind the Exchange

Hotel block. The area at the left has been in service for a number of years.

NEW EMPLOYMENT OFFICE opened at 237 Pennsylvania ave. W. in building formerly occupied by Northwest Savings and Loan Association office. It was previously located at 225 Pennsylvania ave. W.

School Building Construction in Warren Co.

On May 11, the State Board of Education adopted a resolution pertaining to the filing of a long range development program for school building construction. In part, the resolution stated the following: (1) all school districts are encouraged to develop and submit to the Department of Public Instruction a long range developmental program as soon as possible, (2) subsequent to July 1, 1968, the program must be submitted to the Department of Public Instruction with a school building application, and (3) by July 1, 1969, all school districts must file with the Department of Public Instruction a long range developmental program for school building projects."

What implications does this have for the Warren County School District? The district is obliged to conform to the resolution and its terms as listed above. It will be the first time in the history of the Commonwealth that a scientific approach has been taken on this vital issue. In developing this program it will entail many other individuals and agencies in addition to the school board and school personnel. It will be an integral part of a comprehensive plan for the future growth and systematic development of the many and various programs so vital to Warren County. While the program is primarily designed to determine the long range needs of the school district it will have far-reaching implications for the benefit of all residents of Warren County outside the realm of the educational system.

In developing this program a comprehensive analysis of the following areas must be made: (1) the nature, condition and location of existing school facilities, (2) present and future educational programs, (3) community growth trends in terms of population and industry, (4) present and projected highway facilities, (5) zoning and land use regulations, and (6) the availability of public utilities and services. When this phase of the program is completed the needs for, and location of, school buildings for a minimum period of ten years must be determined by local school authorities.

At the present time the Warren County School District is involved with two major building projects. An addition to the Eisenhower High School and a new elementary building for the Allegheny Valley.

Sheffield Elementary School

The addition to Eisenhower has been necessitated as a result of population growth in this part of Warren County. This school, constructed in 1956, was designed for a student capacity of 575. At the present time the enrollment is 734 students and from projected population statistics the indication is that this area will continue to grow for some time. The addition, presently under construction, will increase the student capacity of the Eisenhower High School to 1050 students. The addition is scheduled for occupancy in December, 1968.

The case at Eisenhower is a prime example of the state's purpose in requiring a long range developmental program for all school districts. When the original Eisenhower building was in the planning stage, in 1953, the student capacity of 575 was believed to be adequate. The state's philosophy then was to build on a projected enrollment of five years. The present construction at Eisenhower High School clearly points out that a five-year projection is inadequate in an area that is experiencing residential growth. The addition at this school has been designed to serve the particular educational program in operation - "The Eisenhower Plan." This plan is designed to make instruction more meaningful to students through the use of flexible time periods in scheduling, team teaching, learning groups of various sizes, independent study, and provisions of learning centers in which study materials are placed for use by students.

The other building project, not yet under actual construction, is a new elementary school for the Allegheny Valley. This project has reached the stage of land acquisition and sewage treatment studies. Bids for this project should be received by the spring of 1968. Many factors influenced the desire to build a single school for this attendance area. The inflexibility of the existing physical facilities and small enrollments makes construction of cafeterias, libraries, health suites, and special subject rooms impractical. These facilities will be incorporated in the new structure.

One school building in this area will enable improvements in transportation routes and scheduling which will reduce pupil bus time and reduce the school day for students and teachers. In addition, it will enable a full-time administrator to supervise and give direction to the educational program in one physical setting rather than directing programs in three separate buildings.

The philosophy of the Warren County School Board and administrators is to provide the necessary physical facilities compatible with the educational programs of the district. The long range building needs of the district cannot be accurately determined until the long range developmental plan is completed, and then with some reservations due to some factors that cannot be determined, it is now known that certain areas of the district are growing quite rapidly which calls for building considerations of an immediate nature. As pointed out, the geographical area of the Eisenhower High School attendance area is growing quite rapidly creating the need for the present addition to that school. Inspection number requests have been made, the first step in planning school building construction, for additions and/or alterations for the Starbrick elementary school and the Sheffield school. These schools are currently overcrowded in terms of their rated capacity in relation to their present enrollments. Temporary relief has been provided for the Starbrick school with the purchase of two portable classrooms, thus relieving the school population pressure on a short-term basis. In addition, several other schools are overcrowded and in need of additional facilities, namely, Warren Area High School, the North Warren elementary school and Youngsville High School.

At the present time twenty-nine buildings make up the physical facilities of the district which provides the educational setting for 11,113 students. The original construction dates for these buildings range from 1870 for the Plank Road elementary school to the Market Street elementary school which is in its third year of occupancy. The enrollments in the various schools vary from fifteen at Plank Road elementary to 1480 at the Beaty Junior High School. Of the twenty-nine buildings, twenty-three are elementary schools, four are secondary and two are combination elementary-secondary. Ten of the schools have been constructed since 1950. Nine others have had additions and/or alterations since the same date. This is indicative of the general overall condition of school facilities in the Warren County School District.

In addition to the twenty-nine described buildings the Warren County School District leases two buildings to provide facilities for operational personnel of the district. One is the administrative and supervisory office at 307 Pennsylvania ave., w., and the second, the tax office located at 20 Conewango ave.

Consumer Economics Preview For 1968

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Rising prices, a tax increase, high mortgage and interest rates, a threat of tight credit and more inflation are among the prospects for American consumers in 1968. These are the dark clouds in the picture.

The silver lining is that American consumers will continue to improve their already high standard of living, with their increase in disposable income almost certain to exceed an estimated 3 per cent advance in living costs.

As 1968 comes into clearer focus it seems apparent that Americans may be in a mood to spend some of their unusually large savings—they saved at a rate as high as 7 per cent of disposable income in 1967.

As a result, some sales that were a bit depressed last year could spring back. Sales of houses, cars, television sets and appliances and long distance travel are among big ticket items expected to be higher than in 1967, despite any tax increase.

There are perhaps as many uncertainties about the future economy as there were a year ago. But the chief worry of 1967, that of a recession, now is well behind us.

Inflation is the big danger this year, and though it can be just as frightening as a recession, it is a less ominous threat in the public mind. Inflation, after all, is often the product of a vigorous economy.

Here are some economic highlights of the past year and a preview of several consumer areas:

Jobs—A low rate of unemployment.

The jobless rate remained very low during 1967, under 4 per cent for most of the year, and a continuation of the same is expected in 1968. This means at most skilled workers who want jobs will be able to find them.

Joblessness will be confined mainly to the unskilled, who will continue to see their jobs eliminated by the rapid implementation of new technology. Technological unemployment is a continuing problem, but there are indications it is being tackled more effectively now.

More attention will be given to job training, especially among Negroes, where the lack of skills is pronounced and joblessness is nearly double the whites' rate. As shown by urban riots, this problem is critical.

As a result, public and private programs will concentrate as never before on upgrading worker abilities and on encouraging employers to offer jobs, eliminate bias and institute training programs.

Personal Income—Higher again.

The nation's personal income in 1968 will reach nearly $700 billion by December. About two-thirds of that will be in wages and salaries, the rest in shopkeeper and farmer income, rents, dividends and social security.

Wage increases in some major industries are expected to be close to 6 per cent, enough to keep well ahead of the rising cost of living.

Near the end of 1967, income of nonfarm production workers was near $140 a week in mining, $117 in manufacturing, $83 in wholesale and retail trade. Construction laborers were getting $4 an hour, skilled workers $5.60.

Living Costs—The family budget may be a little less tight.

Many forecasters feel that living costs will continue to rise through the first half of the year. But median family income, which in 1967 was close to $8,000 a year, is expected to rise also.

Late in 1967, the Bureau of Labor Statistics announced that the budget of a city family of four, in order to maintain a moderate living standard, would have to exceed $9,000, well above that of millions of families.

Although the costs of services are expected to continue rising, in general, the American city workers will continue to spend about 23 per cent of his budget on food, 24 per cent on housing, 15 per cent on taxes and social security, 5 per cent on medical care, 9 per cent on transportation and 8 per cent on clothing. Miscellaneous costs will take care of the rest.

Taxes—A question mark for the third year in a row.

The answer to whether there will be a tax increase is basic to almost all consumer spending in 1968. A large percentage of economists now believe a surtax is needed to keep the economy within bounds. A minimum of 6 per cent and a maximum of 10 is mentioned.

However, opinions do not constitute law. The nation went through 1966 and 1967 without an increase, but the pressure for one is growing.

Housing—The upturn will continue in the first half of the year.

Housing construction was the chief victim of tight money in 1966. As the availability of mortgage money grew during 1967 the industry rose steadily from the doldrums. Nearly 1.3 million units were built in 1967, and that figure very likely will be exceeded in 1968.

Appliances—Depends on housing.

Assuming that 1.5 million homes are started in 1968, home furnishings and appliances will have strong years. Also expected to boost sales of air conditioners, television sets, dishwashers and such is the relatively large sums consumers have available.

Food—Prices may rise.

Food price increases leveled off somewhat in 1967, but the news for 1968 is that more markups might be on the way.

Let's in 1967, the Agriculture Department forecast higher retail food prices for 1968, possibly by as much as 3 per cent. Higher wages, among other things, were cited as a cause.

This is bad news for housewives, for American families spend around 20 per cent of their budgets on food. A 3 per cent increase in such an item is two or three times as costly as it would be for clothing.

Warren Rescue Offers Outstanding Service

Warren Rescue Service has just completed its eighth year operating on a round-the-clock service for almost any emergency. It is the only service of this kind in Warren and Warren County performing many tasks, which range from freeing trapped persons from automobiles, rescuing small boys stranded on ice formations in the river to locating bodies of drowning victims.

The organization was chartered in September, 1957. It required a little over two years to obtain sufficient funds for necessary equipment to operate as an independent organization.

Like almost all worth-while projects, Warren Rescue started with an idea—a good idea. It was conceived by a group of six men, headed by William E. Yeager Jr. Others were Everett Seifert, Ken Peterson, Ford Winner, Floyd Pickard and Gifford Clark. Warren County owes a debt of gratitude for their many hours of work offering emergency service. Four of the original group of six are still active.

During the eight years Warren Rescue has functioned as an independent group, a total of 194 calls have been answered. It is a completely volunteer group. Every member serves his fellow man because he cares about the welfare of others—especially during times of stress and emergency.

The group cooperates closely with both fire and police departments, as well as with Civil Defense. It performs emergency rescue service where it is not always the proper function of police or fire units to tie up their personnel.

Nearly all members of Warren Rescue are trained in first-aid and water rescue techniques, and have earned American Red Cross certificates. Warren Rescue responds to calls from police and fire units, as well as acting independently.

It is always emphasized that all services of Warren Rescue are made without charge. It is a non-profit corporation.

Equipment includes two rescue trucks, with winches and other equipment for almost any emergency, plus two sixteen-foot boats with thirty-five horsepower outboard motors that can navigate in any current or water. Hand and power tools are included, as well as a 2500 watt generator and acetylene cutting equipment. There are also basket and folding stretchers, blankets, first aid equipment, extension ladders, and over 1100 feet of rope.

No other organization in this area is at the present time equipped and trained for such emergency service on a twenty-four-hour basis.

Assistance in any emergency can be obtained simply by telephoning: 723-2345.

CORNERSTONE WAS MILESTONE

Warren Rescue Service has now completed its eighth year of service to the people of this region. Laying a cornerstone for the non-profit organization's building at the foot of Market street in 1960 was an important moment. From left, Louis Niederlander, Blain Mead, The Hon. Judge Alexander C. ### HOT JAZZ SOCIETY STARTS

NEW YORK (AP) The New York Hot Jazz Society is being formed with the slogan, "Support Jazz."

First meeting was held in November at the Top of the Gate in Greenwich Village with Willie "The Lion" Smith as guest speaker and musical entertainer with his stride piano style.

Clay Watson, former director of the New Orleans Jazz Museum, is looking into the possibility of establishing a New York Jazz Museum.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1967

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—Plan your schedule early, and only deviate where a better arrangement is presented or discovered. Apply brakes sensibly in pleasures, risky activities.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Venus in beneficent position. Romance and artistic pursuits favored. Re-examine your long-range projects and put them on a business-like basis.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Some contention may be prevalent now. Steer carefully from it, and anything else unworthy of your fine mind and better instincts. If usefully busy, you will enjoy the day.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Work constructively, but insert a novel twist into routine to relieve monotony and make it attractively pleasing. You may renew a friendship.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—Solar aspects now urge you to be tenacious in application, constructive in plan. System with flexibility needed. Radiate cheer and others will follow suit.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Do not let the unfamiliar keep you from accepting it on that basis alone. Where you carefully check for errors and find none, invite the innovation.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—You can have a productive, enjoyable day if doing your best. But don't undertake a schedule so exacting that it leaves no time for creative ideas or relaxation.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22)—With little planetary help, it will be up to you how to handle your work and how smartly you manage your personal affairs. Accept obligations graciously, carry through promptly.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—Suggest a conference if you feel (or others do) that improvement would result. Be motivated only by your highest ideals, and faith in others' good will.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Investigate all angles of any new proposition offered, but don't fear the unknown; just get better acquainted with its possibilities—or lack of them. Especially favored: Scholars, students, travellers.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—Make the most of your really bright ideas and concise, solid plans for achievement now. Accentuate positive thinking. Combine intuition with know-how.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—You are one of those gifted persons who can produce original or unusual ideas when they are most needed. This is your day to shine!

YOU BORN TODAY are artistic, capable in a variety of ways, willing to work hard; should have considerable success if developing your versatility and business acumen. The Sign of Capricorn has produced many deeply moving actors, and many able writers and editors. You tend to worry too much and to doubt your own ability. Once you overcome this lack of confidence, you can step up with the top achievers, set new records in surprising areas. Birthdate of: Rudyard Kipling, author; Alfred E. Smith, American statesman.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

A reader writes: "Is emphysema similar to asthma?" Both conditions involve the lungs and may coexist, but in most instances they are separate diseases. Asthma is an allergic disorder, whereas emphysema stems from chronic irritation exhibited by narrowing of the bronchi and dilatation of the air sacs.

The asthmatic has attacks of wheezing and whistling, especially during expiration. Each bout is initiated by exposure to a substance to which the victim is allergic. In some instances, distress follows a respiratory infection or severe emotional stress.

During an acute attack, the victim is sitting up, struggling for air, apprehensive and unable to talk above a whisper. The noisy respirations are due to swelling of the bronchial membranes. Injections or inhalations of epinephrine bring prompt, but temporary, relief. Nebulized isoproterenol does the same. Permanent relief is obtained when the cause is known and avoided. Desensitization or hyposensitization may help.

Emphysema is more common in older persons and usually follows years of chronic bronchitis. This disorder is very much in the news today because it is so prevalent and is associated with heavy smoking and air pollution. Shortness of breath after slight exertion is the most prominent symptom. Cough, usually present as part of the chronic bronchitis, may be severe, especially when the mucus is thick and sticky. Victims of emphysema also are susceptible to chest colds that persist for several weeks unless treated.

In emphysema, the walls of the air sacs are weakened and ballooned out. The bronchi are thickened and narrowed. Air enters the lungs but has trouble getting out. Improving this aspect of the disease is mechanical and consists of special respirators and learning to breathe properly in order to force the stagnant air out of the lungs. Antibiotics combat infection and drugs such as epinephrine or isoproterenol keep the air passageways open. Oxygen also helps. But most important of all—smoking is taboo and infections and air pollution must be minimized.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

HE'S A DANDY

L.E. writes: Is something wrong with the mind of a 31-year-old man who takes more than one-half hour to part and comb his hair?

REPLY

No, provided he gets up 30 minutes earlier. In the past it was said that a gentleman spent a long time grooming himself but he dressed in a hurry. BODY'S ALARM SYSTEM

A.Y. writes: What made my white blood count skyrocket to 16,000 when I had appendicitis?

REPLY

White blood cells are part of the body's defense against infection, and the blood-forming organs are stimulated whenever a disease of this type strikes. SNEEZES AT BEDTIME

Mrs. Y writes: Why does an elderly woman get a stuffed nose and sneezing attack when she undresses for bed?

REPLY

The most likely reason is a physical allergy to change in temperature. Another possibility is the stirring up of dust in the bedroom.

TE LA DI O

WEEK'S PREVIEW

Men will find this weekend a real treat with football games on Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Already their wives are bawling the fact that there'll be nothing else to watch for three days. Here's where a second set might promote more congenial marital relationships.

There are some New Year's Eve church services (consult your schedule for channel and time) and of course Guy Lombardo will present his usual New Year's Eve show. Monday is admittedly full of parades and bowl games, although you'll find some changes and new shows in ABC's daily lineup on Ch. 7.

CBS has a news special Tuesday night which should be worth the watching time, "America and the World." And on Friday night, NBC has a special titled "Tomorrow's World; Beyond the Sky."

Happy New Year televising!

CH. 4 SPORTS SCHEDULE

WBEN-TV, Ch. 4, Buffalo, will continue to carry an impressive schedule of sports telecasts during the winter months, but will not be carrying the CBS Saturday afternoon hockey games. However, starting Sunday, Jan. 28, Ch. 4 will have the National Hockey League Game of the week. On consecutive Sundays, it will be Detroit vs. Minnesota; California vs. Minnesota; Montreal vs. Chicago; Detroit vs. Chicago; and Toronto vs. New York.

Other sports events on the Ch. 4 schedule include the NFL championship and playoffs, four Niagara University basketball games on Saturdays, plus Beat the Champ bowling.

RUN FOR YOUR LIFE COMMENDED BY NFC

A recent two-part drama with a multi-car crash on NBC's "Run For Your Life" series has been commended by the National Safety Council and the show was placed in the category of a public service by the Federal Highway Administration. The latter has requested a print of the film to be used internally by its organization and for possible presentation at civic affairs serving the public interest.

"Cry Hard, Cry Fast," the drama in question, evoked these words from one official: "We find it especially exciting because we have for a long time sought to present the multiplicity of traffic accident causes and the difficulty of identifying specific causes of any particular accident as the framework for a situation of potentially great drama. We've also felt that a dramatic presentation of this kind would serve the public interest well in that it would help to make clear that simplistic 'solutions' to traffic accident problems are of little validity."

NEW LINE-UP ON CH. 7

Starting Monday, Jan. 1, Ch. 7's daytime schedule will feature a number of changes, including some new programs. The new programs are "Outrageous Opinions," "The Baby Game," and "The Perfect Match."

Replacements and schedule changes involve these programs: "Donna Reed Show," "Bewitched," "The Dating Game," "I Love Lucy," "Flintstones," and "Marshal Dillon."

PEOPLE & PROGRAMS

THE CATHOLIC HOUR will offer a four-part series entitled "The Catholic Faith, A New Perspective" on NBC-TV starting Sunday, Jan. 7. Titles for the programs on consecutive Sunday afternoons will be: "The Crisis of Change"; "Roots of Change"; "Faith: Its Nature and Varieties"; and "Faith and Human Possibilities."

THE VINE, award-winning NBC-TV program re-creating the life of Christ and filmed in Jordan and Israel, will be repeated Sunday, Jan. 7.

PROJECTION '68: One Crisis Leads to Another will be a special NBC News telecast on Friday, Jan. 12, reviewing the events of the past year and previewing 1968.

CATHEDRAL OF TOMORROW, a popular church program, will be televised every Sunday from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. on Jamestown's new television station WNYT, Ch. 26. Rev. Rex Hubbard, is pastor.

GE COLLEGE BOWL moves to Sundays at 6 p.m. starting Jan. 7 and the 7th anniversary program will have several unique features.

MONDAY NIGHT MOVIES will become an NBC-TV reality next fall and will be scheduled at 9-11 p.m.

MOON CRAWLER

After man has landed on the moon, he will examine the surface of the moon and answer some of the most burning questions that have existed for centuries. This Russian concept of a moon crawler that man might use in exploring the moon, will appear in an exclusive

Soviet film to be shown in NEC's story of man in space, "Tomorrow's World: Beyond the Sky," to be colorcast by NBC News Friday, Jan. 5, (10-11 p.m.) on the NEC Television Network. NBC News correspondent Frank McGee is the reporter for the one-hour special.

TOP VIEW

by CLARKE WILLIAMSON

Top Viewers hand "Family Affair" the highest rating of any program so far this season. It appears the show will be the season's best, as it was last year. It scored high in the three age groups: Notice, also, "Andy Griffith" and "My Three Sons".

Family Affair, CBS, 90.1, TV's best.

Andy Griffith, CBS, 82.0, One of TV's Best.

My Three Sons, CBS, 80.1, One of TV's Best.

Mother-in-Law, NBC, 56.0 above average.

READERS SPEAK

Dear TOP VIEW: In our home "Family Affair" is a weekly ritual. Our 3-year old daughter thinks Jody and Buffy are her very personal friends. All characters are well chosen. I nearly always end it a little "misty-eyed." Mrs. Dennis Hefner, Bellevue, Neb.

Dear TOP VIEW "Family Affair" sets an example of good discipline in the home along with respect and consideration for others. The same for "My Three Sons" and "Andy Griffith." Mrs. Jack C. Thompson, St. Petersburg, Fla.

By Howard Jarvis

So many of our friends and customers ask us questions about dry cleaning and clothes care that it occurred to us there might be a great many others who had the same problems and questions but just didn't get around to asking them. We wondered if there might be a way we could discuss some of these subjects, like an open forum, and this column is the answer.

We'll appear here each week with a variety of facts and comments about dry cleaning. We'll try to offer tips on how to conserve clothes and get more wear out of them, how to keep them looking better, how to select them for service.

We'll also suggest useful facts about such problems as stains and what to do about them... different fabrics, like the new synthetics, and what you should look for in buying and caring for them... cleaning problems with dyes, shrinkage, and so on. Maybe along the way we'll even find space to toss in a few personal comments.

We hope you'll become a regular reader... and a regular customer. You'll find that our cleaning service is fast, thorough and dependable... for everything from the most delicate fabrics to the toughest workclothes.

SOCIAL Wanderings

by Marion Honhart

IT IS ALMOST TIME TO SET FORTH on the rugged and unknown terrain of the new year. Most of us are perhaps touched with a sense of excitement, a stirring of hopes and a sense of anticipation—if things haven't been so good, a hope that they will be better; if life has been satisfying, a wish that it may continue so. We resolve, sincerely, all kinds of things: To improve ourselves, develop more compassion for others, expand our capacity for friendship, suppress that anger that springs so quickly to the surface, give more of ourselves to the things that really matter. And even if only in an infinitesimal degree, the sense of hope and anticipation is answered and the new year as it unfolds seems better, it is because we have become better—though perhaps not always conscious of it. As you can see, I, for one, do not believe that the anticipations, prayers, hopes and resolutions for the New Year are wasted; they may not be answered in just the way we want, but they are not wasted!

THE K OF C DANCE CLUB called in to remind everyone concerned that the Knights of Columbus Hall has been reserved for dance club members until 10 p.m., tomorrow, New Year's Eve. After 10 o'clock the public will be welcome. Music for dancing will be played from that hour until 2 a.m., January 1st, 1968, by the musical group known as "The Raiders."

THE COMMUNITY'S SOCIAL LIFE this year as in other years was highlighted by a few annual and outstanding events. I'll try to mention them according to the time they occurred, not necessarily in the order of their significance in the community: In February, the usual PTA entertainment attained new heights in the hilarious rendition of "Ten Barrooms In A Night" as portrayed by an all-male cast for the North Warren PTA. St. Patrick's Day in March suggested the title for the annual spring concert of the Warren Sweet Adelines "The Shamrocks and Shillelaghs" which was performed, as usual, to a packed house.

Later in the spring, the Conewango Valley Country Club celebrated its own Golden Anniversary with an evening of gaiety, dining and dancing; an impressive array of memorabilia indicated the changes, from costumes to mores, in the half-century of its life.

One of the happiest of community events is the annual May Day Breakfast—This, sponsored by the Woman's Club and held at the club is one of those times when women seize the opportunity to repay social debts to a number of friends at a time, in an atmosphere colorful and bright with spring flowers. The importance and popularity of the annual Antique Show and Sale, sponsored by the Woman's Club, grows each year. The 1967 version called "Lavender And Old Lace" drew tremendous public response.

Each spring, too, the Warren General Hospital Auxiliary promotes an enormous undertaking for the good of the hospital. Simply known as "The Charity Ball" it is held each year in the ballroom of the Woman's Club, and raises a goodly sum.

A new, but highly successful, innovation this year was the Warren Public Library sponsored lunchtime film programs. Businessmen and women brought their lunches to the hospitality room of Northwest Savings and Loan, (where coffee, cream and sugar were provided) and enjoyed films of great interest.

Then we can't forget the summer months when it was Strawberry Festival Time, and Country Style Dinner Time, one of the few old-fashioned touches left in our lives today—Reminds one somehow of Booth Tarkington, Norman Rockwell, and "America, The Beautiful," all rolled into one! Of course, the churches and granges have their many kinds of dinners, and smorgasbords, right through the four seasons.

The June Art Festival, an outdoor show which draws artists from the states of New York and Pennsylvania, so far has enjoyed bright sunny skies and lots of fascinated patrons. This year, the respected art of photography was added to its exhibits. And you can't ignore the contribution Playwright Playhouse made to the attractiveness of this communities' social life—Sited high atop a Scandia hill with a panoramic view of great beauty, the playhouse week after week, nightly, put on a great variety of plays.

In the autumn of the year there is always the great flower show put on by the Warren Garden Club and the Warren Woman's Club; this year it was held for two days. And then, there was that special treat, the Zonta Style Show called "Portraits In Fashion" which showed to a capacity audience at Beaty Auditorium.—Equaling it in popularity was the spring fashion showing of the BPW called "Spring Carousel," a sellout, also held at Beaty.

Then, before Thanksgiving, there's the annual pre-holiday showing of "What's New For The Holidays?"—a merchants showing of all kinds of wares, and sponsored by the Woman's Club at the club. Also in November, the public was treated to a combined concert performance of Mozart's "Requiem" by the Warren Civic Orchestra and the Civic Chorus. A first, this was directed entirely by Carl Stout.

Finally throughout the autumn, winter and spring months, theatre enthusiasts have a varied selection of plays from which to choose put on by Warren Players Club. And, of course, there's also the Warren Concert Series which brings artists of stature to Warren to be heard or seen, depending on the nature of the art, be it instrumental, voice, or terpsichorean.

There are many other social functions in this area, naturally, but the above, with one exception, are open to everyone.

Tutmaher, Isaac Vows Exchanged

Marie Andrea Tutmaher became the bride of Richard Dean Isaac on Saturday, December 16, at a 2 o'clock double ring nuptial service in St. Joseph's Catholic Church. Father Norman A. Smith officiated in the presence of sixty guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Tutmaher of Chandlers Valley and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ace Isaac of New Kensington, Pa.

Approaching the altar on the arm of her father, the bride wore a white floor length taffeta gown with a veil of silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of white roses and ivy. Maid of honor was Vivian Tutmaher, sister of the bride.

Best man for the ceremony was John Tutmaher, brother of the bride; ushers were Donald Bosko and Andy Glotz.

The reception was held at the Chandlers Valley Grange Hall. The couple now reside in Hinesville, Georgia.

Mrs. Isaac is a 1964 graduate of Eisenhower High School and attended New Penn Beauty School. Mr. Isaac graduated from Arnold High School in 1963 and attended Morehead University. He is now serving with the U.S. Army and is stationed at Ft. Stewart, Georgia.

Barnes Methodist Church Program Given by Sunday School Children

Recently a Christmas program was given by members of the Sunday School in the Barnes Methodist Church. Everyone present participated in the singing of carols; the girls of the Youth Choir sang a special selection "All My Heart This Night Rejoices," and the entire Youth Choir sang "Good King Wenceslaus." The Junior Choir sang "Long, Long Ago" and "I Saw Three Ships A'sailing." Heidi Spicer sang "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

A playlet "One Night In Bethlehem" was given with the following taking part: Curtis Bowley, Ronald Eck, Jeffrey Grubbs, Jimmy Rudolph, David Nels Swanson, Kevin Weigel, Kris Weigel.

Children from Class I who gave a program of songs and recitations were Tamie Blymiller, Julie Littlefield, Carl Leichtenberger, Mark Leichtenberger, Jimmy Fitch, Jimmy Hahn, Kim Spicer, Mike Tuneberg, Kathy Weigel and Karen Swanson.

Class II gave recitations: Dean Lewis Jr., Sherry Melquist, Scott Rudolph, Patti Pitcock, Renee Spicer, Todd Spicer and Karl Swanson.

A Christmas Tableau was presented by Class III: Heidi Blymiller, Laurie Blymiller, Craig Bowley, Jill Bowley, Jimmy Eck, Sally Fitch, Tamie Rudolph, Shelly Schuler, Eric Swanson, Kirsten Swanson and Kyle Weigel.

The Rev. Jack Boyd gave the scripture reading and prayer which opened the program.

The following awards were made: Bibles for the first year of perfect attendance at Sunday School went to Heidi Spicer, Laurie Blymiller, Wendy Blymiller, Sherry Melquist and Kathryn Weigel. The 3rd year bar was presented to Karen Swanson; 4th year to Dean

Lewis Jr.; 5th year to Jill Bowley and Karl Swanson; 6th year to Cynthia Lewis and Kyle Weigel; 7th year to Craig Bowley and Kirsten Swanson; 8th year to Eric Swanson; 9th year to Curtis Bowley, Kevin Weigel, Kris Weigel; 10th year to David Nels Swanson; 12th year to Karen Weigel.

The entire program was brought to a close with everyone, the performers and audience, singing "Silent Night," and Benediction by the Rev. Boyd.

Salvation Army 'Watch Night' Ushers In Special Youth Year

While much of the world's population welcomes the arrival of the new year with song and celebration, a great international body of youth will be the leading participants in solemn Watch Night services to be held in Salvation Army places of worship throughout the world on December 31.

Members of Salvationist youth groups in 70 countries will usher in "World Youth Year—1968" around the world. This has been officially designated by Salvation Army International leader, General Frederick Courtis, as a year of rededication, by youth, to the task of bringing Christ's love and truth to a confused and needy world.

The theme of "World Youth Year" is "One World In Christ." The objectives are four: (1) Greater knowledge of God's word and the power of prayer; (2) greater social concern; (3) greater involvement of young adults in dialogue and commitment; (4) greater involvement of youth in evangelism.

Each Salvation Army territory around the world is planning a busy schedule of events to help implement the World Youth Year goals. Leadership institutes, evangelical crusades, rallies, Gospel teams, music camps and international youth congresses will enable Salvationist youth of many different nationalities to meet, exchange ideas and affirm the mutual dedication of Salvationist youth to World Youth goals and programs of services.

At the December 31 Watch Night services in the citadel of The Salvation Army's Warren

Corps, World Youth Year will be inaugurated with a program of religious music and talks summoning Salvationist youth to full participation in the year's programs and activities. Prayers, written for World Youth Year, by Salvation Army young people in Canada, Pakistan, Australia, New Zealand, South America, Africa and the United States, will be read to the assemblage.

Special guests will be Major and Mrs. George Harvey, divisional finance secretary from Pittsburgh.

Holding Family Watch Night Party

The Friendship Class of Grace Methodist Church is planning a New Year's Eve family party in Fellowship Hall which will precede the Watchnight Service at 11:30 p.m. Sunday. This is open to the entire church and friends.

The schedule is open so you can come and go as desired. At 8:30 there will be an hour of games and fellowship in Fellowship Hall and gym; 9:10 a sing-a-long in Fellowship Hall; 9:30 the film "Born to Win" will be shown in Fellowship Hall. Then at 10:05 a small lunch will be served.

The Watchnight service will begin at 11:30 in the Sanctuary and will conclude at 12:05.

Answers Your Problems

Retired Teachers Entertained During Holidays

The Warren Boro Retired Teachers Assoc. met at the home of Mrs. Sylvia Stricker, 119 Redwood st., on Wednesday. A dinner was served at 12:30 and the committee assisting the hostess was comprised of Alice Anderson, Nellie Swick, Edith Langdale and Mayme Marsh. Twenty-two members were present. A brief business meeting followed. Miss Anderson gave a brief report of the state meeting held in Harrisburg in October.

It was announced that the State Retired Teachers Association has opened a new office in the PSEA building, Harrisburg, Room 304. The files, records and information center are now located in this office. At the present time the office is to be in charge of Paul B. Faust, secretary of the state organization, assisted by Mrs. Fannie Kittinger.

The January meeting will be held at the home of Camilla Henderson, 604 Water st., on Wednesday, January 31. The following will assist: Beba Cole, Marion Berg, Edith Erickson and Catherine Henderson.

Grange Notes

Accompanist was Mrs. Shirley Wright and Mrs. V. W. Kirberger entertained on the harmonica.

Gifts were distributed to all the children present, also candy and apples, and refreshments were served to everyone present.

The next meeting will be a tureen supper served at 6:30 p.m. on the second Monday of January (Jan. 8); this is also to be dues paying time.

Ruffles, Fashion Says, 'Are Busting Out All Over'

By Bernadine Morris
(c) N. Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK—Ruffles are busting out all over dresses for little girls next spring, just as they are for their big sisters and mothers.

The generation gap may be where, but it is being obliterated in children's clothes. The Victorian ideal of dressing children as miniature adults is having a revival as fashion trends for grownups show up almost simultaneously in the 3 to 6 and 7 to 12 sets.

After several years of being dressed in stark, modern-looking shifts, little girls will be invited to show their waists, rustle their full skirts, match their dresses to their coats, and play in movable knitted styles during the next few months. The general trends are the same for grownups.

With adult fashions growing more juvenile, it is not surprising to find the two fashion areas overlapping.

"Women are getting a kick out of dressing their little girls the way they do themselves," said David Lewin of Amee, a children's dress house. "The little girls are delighted to look like mother—until they become

JEAN ELIZABETH WEST

SANDRA LEE RISTAU

Engagements Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Harry West of Clarendon Heights announce the engagement of their daughter Jean Elizabeth to Herald Allen Mattone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Mattone of 15 Adams Court, Warren.

Both are 1965 graduates of Warren Area High School. Miss West is employed at the New Process Company. Mr. Mattone is in the U.S. Navy and will be leaving for a tour of duty in Vietnam next week.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Ristau, 200 Kinzua road, Warren, wish to announce the engagement of their daughter Sandra Lee to Frederick C. Moody, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Moody of Newark, Ohio.

Miss Ristau is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University, and a member of the Delta Delta Delta social sorority. She is presently employed by South Euclid-Lyndhurst School System in Ohio. Mr. Moody is presently a senior at Ohio Wesleyan University, and a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Necklines Plunge

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK—The bare fact of fashion this season goes beyond the shoulders. Necklines have taken a monumental plunge.

The dive is perhaps not the most daring in history—the empire dress of the 19th century left nothing to the imagination. But the new low cut dresses and gowns are picking up speed as fast as California fashions are attracting movie stars.

There are few black-tie events here these evenings that are not enlivened by varying amounts of décolletage; some diverting, some intriguing and some downright alarming.

It is, in fact, a continuing and quiet revolt against several years of architecturally tailored clothes for day and cover up, monastic looking designs for evening.

"I suddenly realized that in the last few years, no man ever told me I looked lovely," said one woman. "I'd get comments on my 'interesting' or 'great' dress but I began to feel like a clothes hanger."

Apparently a number of women awakened with similar thoughts and the antenna of designers and manufacturers began fluttering. Riots of ruffles and frills, froths of lace and feathers found their way into the stores. The deep plunge was the next natural step.

"Too much fashion has been trying to make us look masculine," said Mrs. James Deely.

Mrs. Deely, whose husband is a vice president of the First National City Bank, added, "Men are tired of the cover-up look—I think they want to see women and their figures."

Mrs. Rene Bouche, widow of the fashion artist, said she didn't approve of the strapless but she rather liked a subtle plunge.

"One hasn't had the feeling of being female or romantic for so long," she lamented.

"I am going into the décolleté look absolutely," said Mrs. Maris Goulondris-Embricos, who divides her year between Greece, Switzerland, Nassau and New York. She said she had found that "men definitely think décolleté is more flattering."

Dolores De Monte, a 24-year-old secretary at Warner Brothers, bought a plunging neckline dress this fall. "I prefer it to the mini-dress," she said of her George Halley design in a black and gold sari fabric.

"When I wear it, almost everyone comes over to me and says 'Oh! What a dress!' It's the first time I've worn something this daring and I love it."

boys and nobody is objecting," said Robert Elsemann of Florence Elsemann, a concern with a basically conservative outlook.

THE GIRLS

By Franklin Folger

"After a year in the Army, I imagine it's hard to believe that your fondest wish, to be sitting here with a girl, has come true!"

The Glitter And The Gold Of The Debutante Ball

By STEPHEN R. CONN

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK—The International Debutante Ball, inspired by a book, "The Glitter and the Gold," written some years ago by the late Consuelo Vanderbilt Balsan, the ninth Duchess of Marlborough, was held recently at the Waldorf-Astoria with very little gold but plenty of glitter in evidence.

It was the 13th edition of the International, the most spectacular of the season's coming-out parties.

Miss Beatrice Joyce says that the inspiration for the ball, which she founded, came from a remark in Mrs. Balsan's book about the difficulty of multi-country debuts in the pre-air travel days of the 1890's.

"I thought it would be nice, with modern transportation to have all the girls come to New York for their debuts," Miss Joyce said.

More than 800 persons watched the event in the grand ballroom. They sat in boxes garlanded with thousands of twinkling pink lights. Beneath them 62 young women glided and curtsied in a setting ablaze with candelabra entwined with orchids and pink satin ribbons.

The girls stepped lightly onto a stage over which twirled a moon of reflecting tiny mirrors that mingled with pink lights. As in years past, the decor was devised by Miss Ada Vive Kramer.

Miss Joyce, who said that she works three years in advance to get the daughters of diplomats, statesmen, politicians and royalty for her event, had evidently succeeded again this year.

The debutantes represented 15 foreign countries, 17 states and the District of Columbia. They included Barbara Anne Eisenhower, the granddaughter of a former president; Miss Anne Louise Howard, niece of Vice President Humphrey, three princesses and a countess.

Skitch Henderson and his orchestra provided the music for all the girls except one: Miss Lindsay Hoyer-Millar, stepdaughter of Sir Leslie Glass, British ambassador to the United Nations, represented Scotland and insisted on bringing her own bagpiper.

"It's a tradition in Scotland that you get piped in if a person is an important guest at a party or similar function," she explained. The biggest problem for the youngsters was the curtsy, done lower than at most debutante balls. The Texas debutantes were about the only ones who didn't appear disturbed.

"We touch our forehead or our nose to the floor," said Miss Jeanne Adrienne Moran, who was one of four girls representing the Lone Star State. "It depends on which gets there first."

The L. A. Bergman Family To Entertain At Open House

The Rev. and Mrs. Lynn A. Bergman of the First-Salem Evangelical United Brethren Church will observe openhouse on New Year's Eve afternoon between the hours of 3 to 6 o'clock. They extend a cordial invitation to all members of the congregation to attend.

At the 11 o'clock Worship Service tomorrow, the Rev. Lynn A. Bergman's message will be—"The Status Quo is . . ."

be the 8 a.m. Holy Eucharist and the 10:30 a.m. Morning Prayer, sermon and Church School.

Thursday morning at 10 a.m. there will be Holy Eucharist, and at 8 p.m. the Adult Choir will rehearse.

Change." Miss Ruth Ackert will play for the Prelude—"Pastorale" by J. S. Bach; for the Offertory—"Song of the Bells" by Rasley.

The choir, under the direction of Ray Marti, will sing the anthem—"Our Help in Ages Past" by Craft.

Special recognition will be given at the 11 o'clock service to the following members of the congregation who are attending college or schools of specialized training—Sandra Arnold, Russell Dase, Lowell Eckert, Jeff Marti, Steve Marti, John Olson, Craig Owens, Tim Ristau and Roy Swanson.

Nursery care is provided for the small children during the worship service.

It's our fond wish that the New Year bring a wealth of joy and success to all our loyal customers!

In three minutes—
we open up a brand New Year. At this moment, three minutes till midnight, millions are assembled to usher in this New Year on life. Men are thanking God for blessings of the past and resolving new things for the future. This new box holds a beautiful New Year, if we make it so. This gift is God's gift to mankind. What will you do with it? The steplike clock warns time for the new birth is high. Whatever you write on this New Year will be written in indelible ink. — an evening! Think wisely, speak truthfully, write with eternity in mind. Happy New Year!

All Things New

By Rev. Meredith Swift,
Pastor of the Clarendon EUB Church

Almost everyone likes new things! There are a rare few who do not like surprises in the way of a new gift. We admire new homes, new cars, new furniture, new clothes. When perishable things wear out and the 'New Look' is lost, we begin to find something new to take the place of the old.

So life itself may become faded and dull, lose its freshness, but there is a restoring power in Christ that makes all things become new! "Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold all things are become new." (II Cor. 5:17) That man is not a new creature until he is 'In Christ.' When we are in Christ, we are 'Born Again' by the Spirit and made alive or quickened by the Spirit!

"Life begins when Jesus comes in, bringing joy and gladness within. Gone sin and sorrow, and bright each tomorrow, for life begins when Jesus comes in!" This is a life that is abundant and everlasting. Which the world cannot give, nor the world can take away!

Not only do we in Christ have a new life, but we also have a new heart. God says in Ezekiel 36:26, "A new heart. . . will I give you and a new spirit will I put within you." He gives us a new heart in the fact that it is changed, transformed, and molded into something new and useful.

We speak of a new auto which in reality, especially in war times, could have been remade from old steel of junked cars processed, melted and remade, having been purged of dirt and rust. So with the new heart God gives us. "Purge me with hyssop and I shall be clean" said the Psalmist, "Wash me and I shall be whiter than snow." If we will but give Him our hearts, He will remake, and remold them anew!

This new life in Christ produces new fruit. ". . . the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance. . ." (Gal. 5:22, 23)

The believer in Christ given this new and cleansed heart has a new joy that the world has not given nor can take away. "In thy presence is fulness of joy, at thy right hand are pleasures forevermore." (Ps. 16:11)

The believer in Christ also treads a new path. "Behind I will do a new thing; now it shall spring forth, shall ye not know it? I will even make a way in the wilderness, and rivers in the desert." (Is. 43:19) This new path brings us to new heights and depths of Christian experience. Each day brings new and thrilling things. Though our way in unknown, yet the Lord goes before us! Our new path is founded upon the Word of God to guide us. "They word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path." This new path becomes fascinating and soul thrilling when we follow our guide and read His word daily. "Her ways are ways of pleasantness, and all her paths are peace." (Pro. 3:17)

As we close the old year, and face the new year, may our prayer be a heart searching one such as the Psalmist in Ps. 139:23, 24, "Search me, O God and know my heart: try me and know my thoughts: and see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting."

May we determine that, 'God's way shall be my way, though I may not see why trials and sorrows oft gather round me.' May we be assured that 'He ever is seeking my gold to refine, so humbly I'll trust Him, my Saviour Divine.' May we avail ourselves to the restoring power of Christ that makes 'all things become new!'

Look to Tomorrow

With the dawn
of the New Year,
we can see a fine future ahead for our community.
We thank you for giving us the chance to be a part of it all.
